

WE ALL love a czar. In politics we think not. At least in this country, any political dictator must call himself by some other name. But this is frequently self-deception. We liked Roosevelt precisely because he was a dictator, and one of the chief reasons for the reaction against his successor, President Taft, was his unwillingness to act in that capacity. In state and city governments the major nearly a governor or mayor can make himself boss of the whole works, the better we like it.

But when it goes outside the sphere of government, we do not balk even at the name. We made Herbert Hoover food dictator during the war and submitted to his orders on matters on which we would not have tolerated control by law. At the same time the Railroad Commission of California appointed a power administrator to apportion electric power and resources among the companies, industries and communities, and the power companies liked it so well that when the war powers of the Commission expired, they appointed the same man to continue his dictatorship, under agreement to obey orders which they would have been loath to enforce. The baseball world appointed Judge Landis and the movie world appointed Will Hays to act as "czar" and called him frankly by this name. Now come the building trades and propose a similar remedy. In New York they objected to regulation by a governmental commission and pointed out that most of the things needed would be beyond its authority anyway. So they propose there also to appoint a building czar who will have no enforceable authority at all but whose orders they all undertake to obey.

IN MANY agricultural communities, the farmers are beginning to wonder whether the same thing would not be good for them. Where co-operation has been well developed something approaching dictatorship is fairly possible over those who join the co-operative organization. The difficulty is that the main problem comes from those who refuse to join. The dictator could not force these. But their neighbors frequently do by resorting to mob violence. In most of the important farming industries at present the problem of over-production is the principal one. If there could be a dictator who would cut down the amount of crop of each producer by a definite amount, all producers would be better off. This has been done with coffee in Brazil; with sisal hemp in Central America; with Zante currants in Greece, and with rubber in the Malay Peninsula. It cannot constitutionally be done by governmental authority in the United States. And it cannot be done by individual action, since each individual would himself be better off if he broke the agreement, providing all the others kept it. The result is that everybody breaks it and everybody loses.

Occasionally, where all the farmers are mortgaged, the bankers will hire an expert to determine what should be planted on each farm and how much should be cultivated. And they compel obedience to the plans of this expert by refusing credit to those who will not conform to them. This does the work but it also arouses resentment. The farmers want a dictator but they do not want the bankers to supply him. The remedy may be to follow the example of those other industries and to appoint him themselves.

WHEN each American bank looked out for itself, the common result was that a small alarm affecting a few of them readily caused the others to draw in their resources, until panic spread and became universal. The Federal Reserve system has largely cured that, by making it no longer to the interest of each bank to do the things which are contrary to the interest of all banks.

Now comes the time when something like this system has to be applied to the financial distribution of the world. In consequence, the Governor of the Bank of England, the Deputy Governor of the Bank of France, and the head of the Reichbank, have been meeting in New York with the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank. As is the way of bankers, they have said as little as possible about what they are doing, but evidently they will have arranged for common policies to make economic use of the common reserves, to avoid inflation or deflation and the frightened raiding of each other's resources.

Whether our politicians know it or not, the bankers know that the world has shrunk too small for any nation to live to itself alone. They also know, however, that they are not so sure of having discovered it. New York is now the financial center of the world; that we are now a creditor nation, and that this involves financial policies in many cases quite the reverse of those which became customary to us during the time when we were a debtor nation. Politicians who think with their memories on these subjects are sure to go wrong precisely by going the way which in the past was right.

FERDINAND OF RUMANIA DEAD

$5,000,000 Road Program Projected

OPINION OF PUBLIC WILL BE SOUNDED

Movement Has Inception in Discussion of Proposed Work with County Board COMMITTEES APPEAR

DO THE PEOPLE of Orange county want to carry forward a $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 program of major highway construction by means of a bond issue? That question will be asked within the next few days as the result of a movement having its inception before the county board of supervisors late yesterday, when committees from both the northern and southern districts of the county discussed various road projects with the board.

Various spokesmen told the supervisors that the Century boulevard, the Manchester boulevard, the harbor cut-off boulevard and other major projects could not be built by the district assessment plan because that plan placed a heavy burden unfairly upon the property affected.

Chairman William Schumacher, of the supervisors, told the committees that the county could not build these highways without raising the tax rate, which the chairman, though not saying so, indicated would be out of the question.

From this exchange of opinion was born the movement to campaign for a bond issue of possibly $5,000,000, with the preliminary step to be the sounding of opinion in local communities and finally a request "from the people to the board of supervisors" for such a move, if the people approve.

Question Sincerity of Move
The bond issue suggestion developed from the appearance of a committee representing the Century boulevard association, which desired an appraisal of property that might be brought into an assessment district to build that highway. The committee's mission was smothered under the barrage of bond issue discussion and the decision of committee members to undertake a campaign for bonds. After the meeting, friends of opinion that they were purposely sidetracked from their assessment district plan by the injection of a bond issue proposal. They appeared inclined to question the sincerity of advocates of a bond issue.

The request from a delegation of Costa Mesa and Newport Beach citizens, backed by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, that Newport avenue and South Main street, south of the Santa Ana city limits, be widened to 60 feet and be resurfaced, came before the supervisors yesterday and was held in abeyance temporarily. The Costa Mesa-Newport Beach delegation, appearing first, was told that the board would be unable to decide what could be done with Newport avenue until the new budget is prepared and the tax rate established. Newport avenue would then be considered in connection with the board's general road program, it was stated.

British Step Threatens Naval Meet

(By United Press)
GENEVA, July 20.—The recall to London of the British delegation at the naval armaments conference was viewed in some quarters today as a diplomatic maneuver to compel the United States to accept the British proposals on cruiser tonnage and size of guns or permit the conference to end in failure.

SCRIBE TAKES COOLIDGE HINT ON FARM STORY

Follows Chief Executive's Suggestion, Visits Experiment Station

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ARDMORE, S. D., July 20.—Out here in the golden west, where there is plenty of scenery and enough outdoor life to please the most persistent of game hunters, news has been scarce for the Washington correspondents "covering" the summer vacation of President Coolidge.

Realizing this comparative shortage of news, Mr. Coolidge suggested that newspaper correspondents write stories about the Ardmore dairy farming field station, a 1,600-acre tract of land devoted by the federal government to experiments in raising crops where the rainfall averages only 12 inches a year, and about the Bellefouche irrigation furnished water for the farmers of two counties.

Interesting Information
In accordance with the president's suggestion, the United Press correspondent came here and has found some interesting information concerning the extent to which the government has gone to develop the soil possibilities of vast prairies.

O. R. Matthews, head of the experimental farm, divulged the fact that thousands of farmers yearly visit his 400 acres of cultivated land and 1200 acres of pasture land to learn the tricks of the trade of growing alfalfa, wheat, corn and sugar beets and of raising cattle.

BRUSH FIRE THREATENS 2 TOWNS IN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Several Hundred Men Are Fighting Flames, Now Raging Uncontrolled

(By United Press)
LIVERMORE, Calif., July 20.—Several hundred men were battling brush flames which threatened today to sweep over the towns of Tracy and Banta, in San Joaquin county.

The fire burst out of control yesterday afternoon, 15 miles east of Livermore, in Alameda county. Every available man in Livermore was rushed to the scene.

Toward midday reports from the fire front said the flames had covered approximately 45,000 acres, virtually all grazing land.

Three new camps of the Hetch Hetchy aqueduct coast range tunnels project are in the immediate vicinity of the blaze and expensive machinery is menaced. Preliminary work on the first aqueduct tunnel has begun, under supervision of the city of San Francisco.

Men were being drafted from as far away as Newman, in Stanislaus county.

A. C. Frost, state forest ranger, is in supervision over the fighters. It was believed the flames would consume most ranch buildings in the vicinity of Tracy, but that the town itself would escape. Tracy has a population of between 300 and 400.

Accuse Man Of Kidnaping 230-Pound Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Accused of kidnaping a 230-pound girl, Juan Machuco was enroute to San Bernardino today to answer the charges.

The girl is Augustina Quesada, 15, who was found with Machuco when he was arrested here on a telegraphic warrant, police said.

ANGLE PARKING INJURES TRADE, ENGINEER SAYS

Thinks Fourth Street Will Lose Business Through Present System

Fourth street will cease to be the principal business street of Santa Ana within five years if angle parking is continued on that street, in the opinion of Clyde Jenken, city engineer.

"Motorists are afraid to drive down streets where a machine is likely to back out in front of them without warning and it is my opinion that within five years the principal business district of the city will be located where parallel parking is observed," Jenken said.

The merchants of Fourth street think differently, however, and for that reason Jenken has not asked the city council to approve a change in the manner of parking on that street, he said.

Jenken said he well understood the attitude of Fourth street merchants regarding parallel parking and therefore would not suggest a change on this street, although almost daily he is making changes on other streets.

Many Changes Made
In the last few days angle parking has given away to parallel parking on the south side of Church street, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets, and the east side of French, Spurgeon, Bush, Sycamore and Birch streets and both sides of Main street in the central traffic district.

The changes are in accordance with a city ordinance, which leaves the manner of parking to the discretion of the engineer.

Jenken said today that in the near future parking changes would be put in effect on other streets. Jenken is on the opinion, he said, that parallel parking on Fourth street would be a boon to the main business street of the city.

Liberal Chief Is Pursued By Marine Force

(By United Press)
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 20.—With a mixed column of 250 marines and constabulary, Maj. Oliver Floyd, of the U. S. marines was proceeding today from Esteli with orders to capture or drive out of the country General Sandino, Liberal military leader, who led the attack on the garrison or marines and constabulary at Ocotal.

The assignment may prove difficult and hazardous. The field of operations is over a rugged mountainous district, whose roads and trails are at this time almost impassable because of heavy rains.

The country lends itself to ambush fighting, necessitating the greatest precautions before advancing. It is strange country for the marines, but the Nicaraguan constabulary will be of aid in overcoming the handicap.

The government of Honduras was understood to be co-operating with the marines. It has stationed a thousand men along the frontier with orders to capture the Nicaraguan general if he crosses the border, it was reported here today.

FREAK STORM HITS IMPERIAL VALLEY

EL CENTRO, July 20.—Following a heavy three and a half hour rain in Calexico and other nearby Imperial valley points, accompanied by a 40 degree drop in temperature, clear and dry weather prevailed here today.

Only a slight rainfall was recorded here, but water backing up in the streets in Calexico caused stores to be flooded. The temperature fell from 106 to 63 degrees during the rainstorm. Hall fell with the rain. The damage from the high water was negligible and no damage was caused to crops.

Angelus Temple Split Is Rumored

LOS ANGELES, July 20.—The sudden decision of Aimee Semple McPherson to terminate her revival tour at Alton, Ill., and return to Angelus temple was attributed here today to a rumored break between the evangelist and her mother.

"Gister maintains that she had visions of new fields of spiritual harvest, but she ought to be home, attending to business, instead of making these trips all over the country," Mrs. Kennedy said in announcing that she proposed to engage in "personal social work" and "hoped to leave the temple."

YOUNG MICHAEL IS PROCLAIMED RUMANIAN KING

Late Monarch's 5-Year-Old Grandson Named To Balkan Throne

(By United Press)
BUCHAREST, July 20.—At the age when most boys are beginning to go to school, Prince Michael, fair haired and frail, today was proclaimed King of Rumania.

The solemn ceremonial of proclamation took place a little less than 16 hours after the late monarch's death. King Ferdinand, who had died from a cancerous condition which for months had threatened his life.

The three members of the council of regents, who will have charge of affairs of state during the youngster's minority, took their oaths that they would support the monarch and the constitution.

The president of parliament then loudly proclaimed the arrival of "King Michael the first."

A boy who will not be 6 years old until October 21 then came forward to assume the rule of some 20,000,000 people.

CAROL GRIEVED ON LEARNING OF DEATH

NEUILLY, France, July 20.—Prince Carol, who, because of his love for Mme. Magda Lupescu, renounced his right of succession to the Rumanian throne, today learned at his Neuilly villa of the death of his father.

"I am deeply grieved," the prince told a friend. "Despite all the troubles I had with my family, I always bore for my father a profound filial affection."

The friend also quoted Carol as saying, "I am not thinking of returning to Bucharest at the moment."

RULER LOSES LONG BATTLE WITH CANCER

Monarch of Balkan Kingdom, Suffering to End, Dies in Arms of Queen

KIN ARE AT BEDSIDE
Son of Prince Carol Has Legal Right to Succeed Grandfather on Throne

(By United Press)
BUCHAREST, July 20.—Ferdinand of Rumania, his body wasted by his months' long fight against the inroads of cancer, died at 2:15 a. m. today, in the arms of his wife, Queen Marie.

Two of his children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, were at the bedside almost continually during the last stage of the king's prolonged illness. Prince Carol, who renounced his rights of succession, was reported on a motor trip from Paris.

The monarch's grandson, Crown Prince Michael, son of Carol and Princess Helen of Greece, knelt near the king as death came. In addition to Queen Marie of Rumania, Queen Marie of Jugoslav and ex-Queen Elizabeth of Greece also were at the bedside.

News of King Ferdinand's death swept over Rumania and at once the nation displayed its mourning rite. Order was maintained throughout the country.

As the end came, the monarch suffered agonies and finally succumbed as he was struggling against suffocation. During a long illness from cancer, his body had wasted away and when he died he weighed less than 70 pounds.

Stychnine injections and a fighting spirit kept the monarch alive during the 48 hours preceding the end.

King Ferdinand was 72 years old. Dies in Wife's Arms
The royal family congregated at Pelesor castle, Sinala, as soon as they heard that the king was dying.

Science combined with a will to live throughout the last 48 hours. But at last medicine could do no more and with his children and relatives surrounding him, his wife's arms holding him, his wife died.

The cabinet met at 8 a. m. to discuss funeral arrangements. Queen Marie, accompanied by others of his family and several cabinet members, were expected to reach the Cotroceni palace, Bucharest, at 3 p. m.

King Ferdinand's body will be brought to Cotroceni and will lie in state for 48 hours.

It was reported without confirmation that frontier guards had been ordered not to admit Prince Michael, Carol's son, who should desire to visit Rumania and look upon his father in death. Carol's son, Michael, has the legal right to the throne as the son of the oldest son, but, meanwhile, the regency will take command.

Queen Marie and Premier Bratianu are looked upon as the leading figures in Rumanian political life. The latter, who has hitherto been the power behind the throne, now is in a position to wield a virtually unchallenged dictatorship.

Became King In 1914
The fate of Ferdinand of Rumania was to govern a kingdom in the Balkans during uncertain years of modern history. He came to the throne Oct. 11, 1914, a little more than two months after Europe's armies began moving in the greatest war in history.

He was accompanied by the beautiful woman known throughout the world now as Marie of Rumania, an English princess, who slipped into the intrigue of southeastern European politics so wholeheartedly that her will finally became one of the determining factors in the Balkans.

Ferdinand succeeded his uncle, King Carol, as King Ferdinand I. Carol had selected his Hohenzollern nephew for the difficult task of governing Rumania had been established only 36 years when the war began. England, Germany, Russia and France created it in the treaty of Berlin, in 1878.

Despite the Hohenzollern blood in Ferdinand's veins, Queen Marie was able to keep Rumania out of the war on the side of the central powers and finally put Rumania in the war on the side of the allies.

That was the biggest thing that ever happened to Rumania—entering the war. It won for Marie's country vast new areas carved from Russia, which had gone Bolshevik during hostilities, and Marie was honored for the personal sacrifices and diplomatic ability which enabled her to win new dignity and wealth for Rumania.

Ferdinand was a weak monarch and never loomed so large as his able queen. Also, he was old. The bearded prince was 59 years old in 1914 and 72 when he died. Physically, he was a weak man.

Plans call for two stops to refuel.

One prisoner, a 50-gallon still, seven barrels of mash and several gallons of illicit liquor were turned over to the sheriff's office late yesterday by Santa Ana police officers, who discovered the "factory" on Red Hill, Tustin, where they went to serve a warrant on another man, charged with petit larceny.

The prisoner is Ben Camarella, 38, who lives on the property where the still was found. Officers Smithwick and Perry arrested him when they found the still. They went to the Camarella home searching for Louis Camarella, a brother, who is wanted here in connection with the alleged theft of several feet of garden hose.

When Smithwick and Perry arrived at the Camarella home, they noticed, they said that several members of the family made hurried exits from the house. This aroused their suspicion. Seeing Ben Camarella dash away toward the barn, the officers gave chase. Smithwick rushed into the barn, thinking the man had hidden there. Perry chased him through a citrus grove, bringing him to a halt after firing two shots over his head.

When Perry returned with the prisoner Smithwick showed him the still, in operation. Three different kinds of mash were found, including mash for apricot brandy, it was said.

Camarella is being held in the county jail on charges of possession and manufacturing of liquor. "If that brother of yours had come into police station when we told him to the other day, we would not have found this still," Smithwick told Camarella. The Mexican nodded his head.

The brother, so far, has not been apprehended, officers said.

tion. Another object is to find to what extent the carrying capacities of pasture land may be increased without injury to vegetation.

"We have done the farmers out here a lot of good," Matthews said. "I can visualize the day when all these brown buttes and rolling land will bear food for the nation. Today they are practically worthless."

The station is situated at the foot of the Black Hills, where Mr. Coolidge is spending the summer. The crops are unusually good this year because the rainfall has been four inches above normal. Great, waving fields of wheat and corn can be seen from the half dozen little white houses where the government crop experts live. That constitutes virtually everything that the United Press correspondent could learn about the farm. If the story is not considered very good, the correspondent wishes that part of the blame placed on the president's shoulders, because it was his idea.

ally, he was not strong during his later years and recently his illness had been such that false reports of his death from intestinal cancer frequently have been printed.

Marriage Not Love Match
Marie was 10 years Ferdinand's junior and had the further advantage of a mind that kept her young despite advancing years. The marriage scarcely could have been termed a love match.

Domestic difficulty probably hastened Ferdinand's death. In November, 1925, his eldest son, Carol, heir to the throne and the father of a 4-year-old son, went to London to represent the Rumanian court at the funeral of the late Queen Mother Alexandra. Carol did not return. He was found several weeks later at Milan, Italy, accompanied by Mme. Magda Lupescu, with whom he since lived.

WWITH surprising suddenness it was announced that Carol had written his father, renouncing succession to the throne. The Rumanian parliament elevated Carol's son, Prince Michael, to the position of crown prince.

The true story behind Carol's flight has not been divulged. It was alleged that he objected to his mother's friendship for Col. Prince Stirbey and had struck the prince during a quarrel at the palace.

Queen Marie arrived in the United States in the autumn of last year for a swing around the circle, in which she expected to travel 10,000 miles.

The journey was attended with considerable unfavorable publicity and before the trip was completed, Ferdinand's illness became acute and his queen was summoned to cut off her visit. Occasionally since Marie returned to Bucharest, Ferdinand has appeared in public. His feebleness was self-evident.

During the latter part of March Ferdinand became worse. From then until his death today he lingered on, but it was known all the while that death was imminent.

CUSTER, S. D., July 20.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover was met at the railroad station today by President Coolidge when the commerce department head arrived for a conference with the president on the advisability of calling a special session of congress in October for Mississippi river flood relief.

While Hoover declined to discuss the subject before talking the matter over with President Coolidge, it was indicated he favored the extra session.

He indicated he believed the funds now available for relief work may not last after November 18.

up their land for a right-of-way and then making them pay for their own land and the road." J. P. Witt, West Orange rancher, complained that the Manchester boulevard would cut a strip diagonally through his property, dividing his ranch into two parts, one being a strip 600 feet wide along the Southern Pacific railroad. The Century boulevard, it was said, also cuts diagonally through ranches along the Pacific Electric railway. Witt criticized the plan of routing these boulevards a distance of 600 feet from the railroad lines, as being more expensive and as injurious to the ranches.

Barnett and others of his committee defended the plan of leaving a 600-foot strip between the boulevard and railroad. For one thing, they said, they found it less expensive rather than more expensive, because the closer the right-of-way was routed to the railway tracks, the more buildings it struck. Another advantage of the 600-foot strip, they said, was its use for industrial purposes, being provided with railroad facilities and boulevard frontage. If the boulevard was built immediately beside the railroad, industrial plants would be erected across the boulevard and spur tracks would be run across the highway, to the detriment of traffic and the disadvantage of the industrial plant.

Witt objected that the idea of the territory between Santa Ana and Los Angeles being wanted for industrial purposes was "far fetched," but Barnett retorted that he remembered living between Los Angeles and Pasadena when it was said that the territory there would be built up. "We can only imagine what the future will be by what we have seen in the past," he declared. He pointed out that a $7,000,000 tire factory has just been announced, to be erected on the Century boulevard right-of-way, this side of Los Angeles.

Finds Much Complaint
W. C. Spencer, of Costa Mesa, referred to the harbor cut-off boulevard, in connection with which he has been an active worker. He had found much complaint, he said, against the district assessment plan as being too severe a burden upon the affected property. He declared his belief that the county as a whole should undertake the construction of a major highway program, including such boulevards as the harbor cut-off, the Century, Manchester and the Capistrano-Elsinore highway.

Spencer was followed by J. E. Schumacher, of an Anaheim committee interested in the harbor cut-off road. Schumacher also advocated a highway program so that Orange county could "catch up" with other counties and "get back into the procession."

Chairman William Schumacher interposed the comment that such a program would cost at least $3,000,000 and that the county could not possibly supply such an amount under the existing $1.75 tax rate. Highway Superintendent Nat Neff was of the opinion that the road program suggested would cost $5,000,000. Schumacher said that if a bond issue was wanted by the people, very well, but that the supervisors should have an expression from the public before proceeding to call an election upon a bond proposal.

Sounds Call for Campaign
Then City Manager John W. Price, of Anaheim, sounded the call to a campaign for bonds.

"It is apparent," he said, "that the district assessment plan is not the thing and that a bond issue is the solution of our highway needs. It is apparent to me that we should, therefore, go back home to our people and sound out sentiment on this question; that we should start with the local chamber of commerce and carry the matter up to the associated chambers of commerce, where a definite plan might be worked out. Then we should come to the board of supervisors with a definite plan and make request that the proposal be submitted to the voters of the county. Let's go."

Reckless Driver
Given $25 Fine
Charged with reckless driving, Pedro Condalez, 809 East Second street, was fined $25 in Judge J. F. Talbot's police court today.

Condalez paid $5 of the fine and said he would serve 20 days in the county jail as payment for the remainder.

He was arrested on a complaint filed by Joe Thompson, several days ago, following an accident at Third and Bristol streets.

SUGGESTED FOR SUIT FILED AS ROAD PROGRAM CRASH RESULT

Robert H. Day, proprietor of a local service station, was sued for $30,500 damages by Albert Hoffman and his wife, Jennie Hoffman, in a complaint on file in superior court today.

The action was based upon an automobile collision that occurred recently in the 1400 block on North Main street.

The plaintiffs allege that Mrs. Hoffman was so badly bruised and lacerated that 72 stitches were necessary to close her wounds. Extreme nervous shock was also claimed.

Fair Funds Are Appropriated By Riverside Board

RIVERSIDE, July 20.—Approval of a $15,000 appropriation from the county for the Southern California fair to be conducted in September under the forty-sixth agricultural district as a state institution, has been given by the board of supervisors.

Success of the fair now is assured, declared President Oscar Crowell on learning of the supervisors' action. He is pleased at the co-operation shown by the board and said that its action supported by the people of the city and county removes any doubt to the success of the Southern California exposition.

The supervisors' action was made contingent upon appropriation by the state of $10,000 for the fair. This amount will be available after August 15, when the bill organizing the forty-sixth district passed at the last session of legislature and signed by Governor Young becomes a law. In addition to this amount, the fair will receive $4000 in premium money from the state under an old law based on the amount of premiums paid last year.

This $23,000 is for the forty-sixth district fair, and cannot be used to settle any association debts, which the directors now are clearing. The supervisors' action makes official the fair budget of $53,450 approved at last Monday's meeting of the fair board, which was contingent upon the supervisors' action.

Court Notes

Suit for divorce was filed today in superior court by Mrs. Geraldine Haster against Richard Haster, prominent Katella rancher. Mrs. Haster charged cruelty. She demanded an award of property, claiming to own a $20,000 interest in property valued at $120,000. The sum of $1000 for attorney fees was also asked. Attorneys McFadden and Holden, of Anaheim, represent Mrs. Haster.

A WORD OF COMFORT
It is terribly difficult, especially when they have been growing for years. Perhaps you have become accustomed to having your own way, even if you had to fight for it, and if you do not it was right and fair to others.
It takes a man to face something that seems stronger than you are, to accept defeat for the moment, and then to learn that a higher power has something for you to undertake which does not leave you free to do just as you please. But God made you a man.

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—A dog's devotion to his master was again demonstrated when a bird dog journeyed from Sacramento to Plaster City, Imperial county, 710 miles, just to be near his boss.
Luther Gaddis of Sacramento. On arriving the dog was footsore and almost dead from lack of food and water. Gaddis took the dog on an auto trip to Plaster City last March. Returning recently to Sacramento he left the dog and the auto here, returning south by train.
Soon after Gaddis left Sacramento the dog disappeared and in several days turned up in Plaster City, where Gaddis is working.

RUDDY POINTS OUT HE'S NOT IN BOOZE CASE

Although the names are easily confused, R. E. Ruddy and E. R.
Rudy are two entirely different people. The former, who is secretary-manager of the Santa Ana Business Men's association, has been busily explaining to his friends ever since a story appeared in the Los Angeles Times Monday morning in which the latter, E. R. Rudy, was listed as one of those expected to be called as witnesses in the grand jury investigation of the Orange county jail, which is scheduled to begin on July 22.

The Los Angeles paper carried a list of 25 people, some of whom were said to be either present or former inmates of the county jail or former or incumbent officers in the sheriff's department.

R. E. Ruddy pointed out today that he is not now and never has been an inmate of the county jail or an officer in the sheriff's department although friends have been stopping him on the street continually and wanting to know when he served his time in the local prison.

"No less than 10 people stopped me on the street Monday morning," Ruddy said today, "and wanted to know what connection
I had with the pending investigation. Ever since that I have been so busy telling other people the same thing and answering telephone calls that my real business has suffered."

The local man is not acquainted with the E. R. Rudy whose name appeared in the Times, he said, when he came to the Register office this morning to place before the general public a denial of any connection with the jail affair.
The number of calls and questions has become so great that he has decided to tell the whole world just who he is and who he is not.

No serious complications have arisen through the misunderstanding, Ruddy said, but the situation is assuming such magnitude that he has been forced to ask for relief.

These MOVIE
PEOPLE

NEW YORK, July 20.—Harry K.
Thaw has set out to become the Mack Sennett of the eastern film domain, and he is taking this funny business very seriously.

True, he may not keep the 9 o'clock-in-the-morning schedule of movie hirelings, but he is actually superintending direction, doing a little direction of his own, smiling at the antics of his company of fat comedians and pretty bathing girls, personally assisting in cutting films, listening to comedy plots, editing titles, and otherwise participating in the activities of the concern which he now heads.

For Harry Thaw recently became an active movie producer and has put his own money into the company which has taken the name of Kenilworth productions. It operates in the old Pathe studio, having taken over a concern known as Lyndhurst productions.

Already two slap-sticks have unreeled themselves under his banner and Thaw fell heir to an unfinished serious drama, "The Spirit World," which deals with fake clairvoyants, which he has gone over in preparation for early release. In this were featured William Lytle, son of Bert Lytle, and Muriel Kingston. Miss Kingston is under contract for other pictures.

The belle of Thaw's bathing beauty brigade is none other than Julie La Cada, not so long ago of the Vanities. The comedy lead is Willie Brown, who follows the old John Bunny style of comedy, and Charles Davenport is the activity director.

Broadway, which had become accustomed to rumors of gestures on the part of Thaw toward pretty maids who attracted his attention, was inclined to gossip that Harry was "angeling" the concern in the interests of a certain pretty actress who wanted to get on in the films and who has had minor roles in the Thaw company. Not only has this been warmly denied, but outward indications are that Thaw really is working on this latest hobby.

He appears at the studio almost every day, takes off his coat and does not stick to his office, but wanders about the departments.

And he says he likes it and is learning a lot about picture making.

More Than Half
Petty Criminals
Are Married Men

MOSCOW, July 20.—A report prepared by an official of the state statistical department shows that 53 per cent of "Hooligans" or those guilty of petty offenses, are married. Their age ranges from 20 to 29. Women offenders represent only 10 per cent of the total, but it is pointed out, their offenses are characterized by extraordinary cynicism and daring.
While during the last year only one man appeared naked in the streets, similar cases involving women are quite frequent.

sense of Commander William Murphy, who is in San Francisco arranging for the visit here next month of State Commander Dick Queen, the meeting was presided over by Jack Fisher, senior vice-commander.

The Montana state picnic and frollic will occur this year at Mission Beach at San Diego on Sunday, July 24, announced W. E.
George, president of the Montana society today.

GRANT'S SEIGE OF VICKSBURG
TOLD IN PAPER

J. W. Culver, of the Wintersburg neighborhood, brought to the Register office today a copy of a wartime newspaper printed on wall paper, showing the scarcity of newsprint paper during the war.

The paper brought in by Mr.
Culver is the copy of "The Daily Citizen," J. M. Swords, proprietor, and it was published in Vicksburg, Miss., on Thursday, July 2, 1863. It consists of four columns, 15 inches long, of news and carries no advertising whatever.

News and editorial are mixed indiscriminately; not only are they mixed in the columns but editorial comment and news reports are mixed up in each article.

The time being during the seige of Vicksburg, much space is devoted to what might be termed
"whistling in the dark to keep up courage." One article makes fun of Grant's boast that he will take dinner in Vicksburg on July 4th, and goes on to say: "Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is 'first to get the rabbit'."

Although the paper is dated July 2, in the lower right hand corner is a "Note" dated July 4th, which says: "General Grant has caught the rabbit," he has dined in Vicksburg and he did bring his dinner with him." The "Note" goes on to say that "this will be the last wallpaper edition of the Daily Citizen."

An article headed "Good News" indicates the general tone of the paper, and reads as follows:

"In devoting a large portion of our space this morning to federal intelligence, copied from the Memphis Bulletin of the 25th, it should be remembered that the news in the original truth is whitewashed by the Federal Provost Marshal, who desires to hoodwink the poor Northern white slaves. The former editors of the Bulletin being rather pro-southern men, were arrested for speaking the truth when truth was unwelcome to Yankeeedom, and placed in the chain-gang working at Warrenton, where they now are. This paper at present is in duress and edited by a pink-nosed, slab-sided toad-eater Yankee, who is a lineal descendant of Judas Iscariot, and a brother germinal of the greatest Puritanical, hypocritical, howling scoundrel unhung—Parson Brown-
low. Yet, with such a character, this paper cannot cloak the fact that Gen. Robert E. Lee has given Hooker, Milroy & Co., one of the best and soundest whippings on record, and that the "glorious Union" is now exceedingly weak in the knees!"

Mr. Culver, who brought in this interesting specimen of wartime journalism, says he found it recently in looking over some old papers of his father-in-law, O. J.
Buck, a pioneer of Orange county, who died some 10 or 15 years ago.

CHARLOTTE BROWNE
WILL RULE FIESTA

Miss Charlotte Browne, 17, pretty Laguna Beach girl, has been chosen queen of the third annual Laguna Beach Fiesta. Miss Browne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Frank S. Browne, of Laguna Beach and was graduated from the Tustin Union high school at the close of last school year. She was a leading character in the senior class play.

She was elected by the popular vote of the citizens of Laguna Beach. Miss Brown will reign over the pageant. Formerly a resident of Santa Ana, she has resided in Laguna Beach six years.

Already two slap-sticks have un-
reeled themselves under his banner and Thaw fell heir to an unfinished serious drama, "The Spirit World," which deals with fake
clairvoyants, which he has gone
over in preparation for early release. In this were featured Wil-

Wife Didn't Like Crocodiles Kept
In Home Bathtub

PARIS, July 20.—The eccentricity of the family that kept the pig-in-the-parlor is rivaled by Colonel Henri Chulliat, who packed 90 young crocodiles in the family bath tub.

There is no known domestic result of the pig-in-the-parlor legend, but Madame Chulliat packed her bag and went back to her mother.

The only statement she issued was that she found it inconvenient to bathe in the same tub with 90 crocodiles.

Colonel Chulliat says that he does not intend to be unreasonable about the subject of their disagreement. Personally he finds crocodiles agreeable pets.
"They make no noise, are clean and do not smell bad," was his summary.

"However, I want to make a compromise, so I am going to sell some of the beasts. Five hundred francs is not so much for an animal which can live 500 years. Perhaps my wife will want to come back when there are not more than a dozen or so crocodiles."

Will Get You Well

YOUR BODY AT ONE TIME FUNCTIONED NORMALLY, AND IF GIVEN THE CHANCE WILL DO SO AGAIN. PINCHED nerves are the cause of most human ailments, and by removing this pressure we are able to restore permanent relief from your sickness or disease.

WHY DOES YOUR FOOT FALL ASLEEP WHEN YOU CROSS YOUR LEGS? SIMPLY BECAUSE YOU ARE PRODUCING pressure upon the great sciatic nerve, thus cutting off the nerve force to that extremity. A spinal pressure acts much in the same way. It is difficult to walk when your feet are numb, likewise the organs or parts of your body will not function properly when they do not receive the proper amount of nerve energy.

ROTARIANS OF SANTA ANA DINE AT CAPISTRANO

Members of Santa Ana Rotary club paid a get-acquainted call at San Juan Capistrano last evening. They sat down to dinner at the Palm cafe with 35 or 40 business men and ranchers of the mission section, and came away feeling that closer ties had been made.

The program of the evening was in charge of W. C. Jerome, president of the club, and E. S. Morrow, musical numbers included vocal solos by Robert Brown and Miss Lorene Croddy, both of Santa Ana, and a reading by Miss Croddy. These numbers were enthusiastically received. Miss Ruth Armstrong was at the piano.

Two addresses featured the program. One was by Frank C. Drumm, Santa Ana, former president of the Orange Rotary club, and T. L. McFadden, former president of the Anaheim club. Capistrano called upon for brief talks were Principal Malcolm of the high school and Judge R. Y. Williams.

LONG TRESSES ARE REVIVING AMONG FRENCH

PARIS, July 20.—Paris is having some success in its determined campaign to foist long hair upon its short-haired customers.

Some ladies who said they would never wear hobbie skirts, and wore them, or trouser skirts, and are wearing them, declared they would not give up their short hair. Yet the least trained observer in the smart restaurants and dancing places of Paris notes the growing number of fashionably dressed women with long hair.

Hair dressers are so confident long hair is due for a revival that they are laying in large supplies of detachable transformations to tide their clients over the transition period. Even hairpins are in readiness for the renaissance of women's crowning beauty.

Ornamental hairpins, which require a firm foundation of hair, are in fashion. The movement begins to look decidedly serious to the die-hards of the shingle faith. Three of the best known dressmakers in Paris have definitely allied themselves with a long hair revival. They are Madame Madeleine Vionnet, Madame Gabrielle Chanel and Paul Poiret. Madame Chanel and Paul Poiret, black hair and advising others to do the same. Madame Vionnet has never cut her locks. Paul Poiret is the sworn advocate of all that is authentically feminine.

Wherever fashionable Parisians gather there is evidence that shingles are being allowed to grow. The women who are so afraid they will be behind the styles that they keep a good three months ahead of them, are letting their shingles lengthen to see on the safe side. There is evidence that many a society shingle will be a Chignon by the time its owner gets back to Paris from the seclusions of beach resorts or country retreats.

REAPPOINTMENT OF DR. ROWLAND URGED

Dr. E. C. Rowland, of Santa Ana, deputy district governor of the Lions club for Orange county for the past year, was recommended last Monday night for reappointment by the Orange county council of the Lions organization, which met in Brea, Dr. Rowland acknowledged today.

It is expected that W. B. Wells, of Riverside, district governor of the Lions club, will make the appointment of Dr. Rowland to this position in accordance with the council's recommendation on August 1.

For the past two years the Southern California district has been divided into seven divisions. The council of each division has selected its own deputy district governor, the choice being confirmed by the district governor. Dr. Rowland held the office for this division last year, having been appointed by district governor, W. E. Strel, who was in office as district governor at that time.

VALUE OF WALL STREET IS TOLD EXCHANGE CLUB

The New York stock exchange was presented as a potent factor in the industrial and commercial development of the United States by Paul E. Reinhardt, general manager of the City Bond and Finance company, which recently opened a branch here, in an address yesterday at the meeting of the Exchange club.

The speaker pointed out that stocks listed on the exchange are of substantial character and referred to the big financing programs that are carried through Wall street in the development of big industrial and commercial projects. He declared that should the exchange close, every community in the nation would be affected.

Commenting on the transmission of reports of deals on the exchanges, Reinhardt says there now is a difference of one minute in the ticker reports as between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, but that engineers were developing equipment that will make the time of receipt of ticker dope identical on both sides of the continent. Reinhardt warned that the most substantial investments were those that return fair interest or dividends, and advised that persons dealing in exchange stocks seek the advice of men trained in the work of investigation of stocks. Availability of securities for quick turnover, reasonable returns and safety of the securities were points that should be given consideration by one contemplating investments, the speaker pointed out.

Fred S. Rogers, district manager of the company, and E. L. Flanagan, manager of the Santa Ana branch, also were present at the meeting. The program was arranged by C. D. Swanner, city attorney, who also introduced Jack Stern, master of ceremonies at the West Coast-Walker theater, in a number of pianologues, Stern presenting his own compositions.

Santa Ana Honoree At Anaheim Party

Miss Freda Lord of this city, was complimented yesterday at a pretty party given by her sister in Anaheim, Mrs. George Larson of North Lemon street in the neighboring city.

A dozen guests were asked to join in a friendly afternoon of bridge, and in their honor, Mrs. Larson made her home very lovely with flowers in vivid yellow and other decorative appointments in yellow and black. Mrs. E. U. Harris, Mrs. Houston Kier and Mrs. H. W. Farris carried off special honors in bridge and received the pretty prizes selected by their hostesses.

The serving of a dainty tea menu brought the happy little affair to a close. Miss Lord, the honoree, is a new member of the Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club. She was accompanied to Anaheim for the party, by Mrs. Merle Morris. The other guests were all from Anaheim.

S. A. Country Club

Friday night will be dance night at Santa Ana Country club, and members, recalling the informal gayety of the May and June events, are already enthusiastically making up their parties for motoring down to enjoy the July event.

According to T. F. McGilvray, club manager, the dancers will find a treat in the music which has been planned for the evening, for Bill Match's KMTR orchestra of Hollywood has been secured, and anyone who has listened to these melody makers when they have been on the air, will know at once what a delightful evening is in store.

The program will begin at 9 o'clock, and will be varied by the serving of refreshments, while lead punch will be in readiness for the thirsty all evening long. Members are asked to telephone their reservations at once, and also to register upon arrival at the clubhouse that evening.

LEAGUE FINDS RUM DRINKING FALLING OFF

WESTERVILLE, O., July 20.—Liquor drinking by women and home brew making in the United States is rapidly falling off, and soon promises to be a negligible factor, according to the headquarters here of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

"After the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act went into effect, thousands of people began making 'home brew' and wines in their homes," said a statement issued by Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league.

"The novelty of home manufacture was a long time wearing off, but like all other fads and fancies, 'home brewing' has grown stale and few of the people who made their own beer and wine a year or two ago are doing so now.

"The women got tired of having their homes smell like a brewery, of fussing with brew vats and of having their friends make wry faces when drinking the basement product. So much bad home brew resulted that the home brew drinkers got to the place where they were afraid to take another chance. The same conditions prevail with the making of home wines.

"Some homes continue the practice—mostly as a protest to the prohibition laws—but they are growing fewer every day, because they can't stomach their own product. There is a growing lack of enthusiasm.

"Women of the so-called society classes are the only ones in the country who are doing any considerable amount of drinking today, and in comparison their numbers are few. The average American housewife and working woman does not drink, and only a few women are thankful for prohibition."

BELIEVE MAN FOUND ON ROAD DEMENTED

Roy Davis, 19, native of Alabama, found in a semi-conscious condition in the state highway near El Toro early last night and taken to the Orange county hospital, is slightly demented, according to a statement made today by Dr. Harry Zaiser, superintendent.

Davis was found lying in the road, unable to talk and acted as if he was starved, according to Roscoe Knight, deputy sheriff, who with Deputy Sheriff Don Mozley removed him to the hospital.

Officers are investigating whether Davis was thrown from a car. No injury was feared, however, and officers were frank to admit that they do not know how he reached that section of the highway.

He was unable to talk last night. Police said they believed he formerly was in the navy and are trying to learn his story by checking naval records, they said.

PLEADS GUILTY TO POSSESSION CHARGE

Harry Franks, arrested Monday night when officers are alleged to have found approximately five gallons of liquor in his machine, pleaded guilty to a possession charge before City Recorder J. F. Talbott yesterday.

Date for pronouncement of sentence was set for 10 a. m. tomorrow, and bail was set at $350, which the prisoner was unable to make.

Franks was arrested by Officers Howard and Barnard.

Russian Wolves Dreaded Menace

MOSCOW, July 20.—Wolves last year killed 20,000 head of cattle and more than 80,000 sheep, goats and other small domestic animals, the commissariat of agriculture has announced. The situation is made worse by the official announcement that, in spite of organized wolf hunts and payment of large bounties for dead wolves, the dreaded animals have increased their numbers by more than 80,000 in that period.

Could you stand this 50,000 times a day?

Tap your finger smartly on your desk fifty times. Hurts a little—doesn't it?

Yet your stenographer strikes the keys of her machine 50,000 times or more a day—and each blow is a shock to the sensitive nerves of her finger-tips—a constant drain on her nervous energy.

This is why stenographers frequently develop functional neurosis, a condition which shows itself in headaches, pain in the arms and shoulders, nervous fatigue.

The L. C. Smith is the one standard typewriter with a key action that does not recoil against the typist's fingers. Its ball-bearing action is smooth, easy and swift. Let your stenographer try an L. C. Smith now. Your investment in her is many times the cost of her typewriter.

BRIDEGROOM WED SECRETLY TWO WEEKS AGO KILLED BY P. E. CAR AT SUNSET BEACH

Two weeks after he was married secretly to a girl whose name could not be learned today, S. W. Byrd, 28, manager of the sporting goods department of the Famous store, Long Beach, met his death last night at 11 o'clock, when he was struck and instantly killed by a south bound Pacific Electric car as he was crossing the tracks at Sunset Beach.

The name of the girl whom Byrd married was withheld, it was said, because she wishes an opportunity to inform her parents and friends of her marriage.

Byrd, who was one of a party of young people spending the evening at the beach, was returning across the tracks with an armload of wood for a bonfire on the shore, when the car, which he apparently failed to see or hear, struck him, causing immediate death, the report states.

Coroner C. D. Brown was to hold an inquest at the Harrell parlor in Huntington Beach at 3 o'clock today and it was expected that a verdict of accidental death would result. The names of the motorman and conductor of the car could not be learned today.

Byrd came to Long Beach a short time ago from Napa, Idaho, to assume charge of the sporting goods department of the Famous store. He was an Elk, a member of the American Legion and of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war. He was a past commander of the American Legion post in Boise, Idaho.

His father is expected to arrive from Napa, Idaho, tomorrow, to make arrangements regarding the funeral. Byrd's mother remained in Idaho with one of his two sisters. His other sister is attending the University of Oregon.

Red Chicken Thief In Raid Here

Orange county's "red chicken" thief is blamed for the theft last night of 19 Rhode Island Red fowls from the yard of J. H. Stewart, 2701 West Fifth street, Santa Ana, a report of which was made at the sheriff's office today.

Several other chickens, which were not of the Rhode Island Red variety, were not taken.

PAINTERS WILL HOLD PICNIC AT PARK AUGUST 6

Further preparations for the picnic to be held at Orange County park August 6 were made last night by painters of the county. The affair is being sponsored by the Orange County Paint club, the Orange County Master Painters' association and locals No. 315 and 1136 of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America. The meeting last night was held at the local union hall.

The picnic is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock the afternoon of August 6. The afternoon is to be devoted to games and athletic contests, it was announced by E. Sheflin, chairman of the entertainment committee. One of the features of the afternoon will be a baseball game between the painters of the northern part of the county against the painters of the southern sections. Bruce Keith is arranging the details of the game.

The painters and their friends and families will enjoy a basket luncheon on the picnic tables under the big oaks at 6 p. m. Free coffee and ice cream will be served.

Dancing will be the main entertainment during the evening hours. The entertainment committee has secured a first class orchestra and the committee in charge of the dance is arranging many unique stunts in connection with the affair, according to Del Barr, chairman. M. Jaska and N. Jordan were appointed chairmen of the refreshment committee at the meeting last night, and W. F. Sorensen was appointed chairman of the publicity committee. H. Schaeffler and Thomas Steck were appointed entertainment committee chairmen. The picnic promises to be the biggest frolic ever held by Orange county painters.

Woman Slightly Hurt In Crash

Mrs. H. A. Baker, Balboa, was slightly cut and bruised at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the machine in which she was riding with her son, Harry Baker, overturned at Chestnut and Main streets, after colliding with a machine driven by Dean Crowley, 18, 211 Sycamore building.

Reports of the accident were filed at the police station by Crowley and Baker.

The two cars collided in the center of the intersection, it was said by Police Officer R. H. Barnard, who investigated.

Mrs. Baker was not badly hurt and was able to return to her home following the accident.

GENERAL ROAD CONDITIONS

By Touring Department of National Automobile Club

General fishing conditions are excellent in both lakes and streams near Independence, Calif. The water is high but clear. Best streams are Bubbs, Rae and Woods. Best lakes are Rae and East, all reached with pack and saddle stock. The best fly is royal coachman and black gnat and the best bait is salmon eggs at the present time. Kearsage Pass is now open with no snow. Oak creek pass is open but some snow is reported there.

The Coast highway is again open between Carpinteria and Huntington. The five mile paving contract is nearing completion, with two-thirds of its width open to travel and the remaining portion being rapidly completed. Traffic was formerly detoured via the Foothill road.

Following is a report of the Apache Trail highway between Phoenix and Globe, Ariz.: The trail is not closed, although tourists can only travel as far as the Mormon Flat dam in their machines. Due to the heavy rainfall, this dam has overflowed and a considerable part of the trail is now covered with water. The stage company which operates daily stages between Phoenix and Globe has a steam launch which is used to transport its passengers across the waters impounded by the Mormon Flat dam. The Superior highway between these two points is now in excellent condition and by using same, motorists can save 130 miles between Phoenix and El Paso.

The new Johnson grade entering Big Bear lake via the desert route will be completed within two weeks. Only four miles of mountain grade will be encountered on this route. No grade exceeds nine per cent and all wide enough for three cars to pass.

Fishing is now very good in June and July lakes, near Bishop. Best bait at June lake, Dave Davis and worms; at Gull lake, Jack Lloyd and worms. The trails are now open to the headwaters of the San Joaquin, including the lakes, Thousand Isles, Shadow and Garnet. The first parties in to these lakes have reported extraordinary good sport. The sage hen season promises well in this district.

Construction work is still in progress on the Coast highway between Ventura and Carpinteria. The first four miles are open but work is still in progress on this stretch. The next two miles are one-way road and delays of from 10 to 15 minutes may be experienced. The next six miles consists of newly completed pavement and the last four miles leading into Carpinteria are open. No construction work in progress.

Following is a report of road condition en route from Kingsburg to Huntington lake. Leaving Kingsburg, pavement is had to two miles beyond Sanger, excellent gravel road to Humphreys; good mountain road with some rough, dusty stretches is had up grade to Cascadia; good dirt road balances of distance to the lake with grades up to 15 per cent.

LAD INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Voral Tilton, 10, of 1502 West Sixth street, Santa Ana, was slightly injured at 7:30 o'clock last night, when he was run down at the intersection of Sixth street and Pacific avenue, by an automobile reported driven by Georgia M. Johnston, 17, 425 West Fourth street.

The boy was riding a bicycle at the time and the driver of the machine was reported learning to drive at the time of the accident. She was accompanied by her father, who was teaching her, it was said.

The lad was not badly hurt, receiving cuts and bruises of a minor nature.

In a report filed at the police station, the driver reported the accident due to the youth playing in the street. Relatives of Tilton laid the blame to incompetent handling of the automobile. No arrests were made.

Hunters Battle With Gorillas To Get Specimen

CAPE TOWN, July 20.—The American professional hunter, Marcus Daly, who is in charge of the Harvard museum expedition, has returned to civilization after a long and perilous journey through Liberia and the Belgian Congo.

Daly was anxious to include in his collection an African gorilla, and he obtained special permission from the Belgian government to shoot one of these ferocious animals.

Accompanied by six Batwa pigmies, the party struck inland from the coast into the forests of the Kivu district, where they encountered several groups of gorillas ranging in number from 17 to 25.

After seven days' hunting in this great unmaped forest, the American succeeded in shooting an immense specimen. The gorilla stood six feet two inches high, measured five feet eight inches around the chest and weighed 500 pounds. He had huge arms and legs finely developed, and large feet, hands and teeth, together with toe and finger nails. There was, however, no semblance of a tail.

The members of the expedition described the forests in which the gorilla troops were found as altogether bigger and finer than any in the United States.

The machine was discovered late last night in front of the residence of M. S. Foote, of Arcadia, and not far from the scene of the fatal shooting.

An empty 45-shell was found in the rear seat. The bullet, which killed Matthias, was from a .45 caliber gun. Glass in the rear window of the car was broken.

Foote reported to deputy sheriffs that he heard the men parking the car in front of his home early yesterday.

On that date, the 22-year-old flyer will take off from the municipal flying field here with her pilot, Augus Pedlar, on the trans-Pacific hop that she hopes will bring her the honor of being the first woman to span the Pacific and also the Dole prize of $25,000.

SECOND BAND CONCERT SET FOR THURSDAY

The second program of the summer series of concerts now being presented by the Santa Ana Municipal band, D. C. Clanton, director, will be offered at Birch park Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock. Members of both junior and senior chambers of commerce will be honored guests for the evening.

Alterations to the bandstand have been completed, and better acoustics provided, so that ensuing programs to be offered throughout the season may be still more enjoyable for everyone. Amplifiers also will be stationed at the park. Thursday night's concert will feature Sergei Rachmaninoff's famous Prelude in C Minor, together with other well-known numbers, also an overture, "Il Guarany," by Carl Gomez, noted Spanish composer. Sergei Rachmaninoff was born in Novgorod, Russia, in 1873. As a boy, he showed marked inclination for music, first studying piano and musical theory in the Conservatory of Petrograd, later transferring to the Conservatory of Moscow, where he studied with Siloti and Arensky. Here he met and became friendly with Skryabin, another well-known Russian modernist. His promise as a student was shown, when in 1891 he was awarded a gold medal for his successful one-act opera, "Aleko," which encouraged him to devote himself energetically to composition.

He made his first public appearance as a pianist in 1892, and during 1893 produced his first piano concerto, as well as other noted pianoforte compositions, also producing his first symphony at Petrograd in 1895. In 1899 he conducted a philharmonic concert in London, the first of a series of many engagements filled by him in leading European musical centers. In 1904 he produced and directed two operas, "The Nigardig Knight" and "Francesca da Rimini," and in 1909 toured the United States in the triple role of pianist, conductor and composer, having made several tours since that time, appearing in Los Angeles last April. Not only does he hold the enviable distinction of being a composer of merit, but is at present considered one of the world's foremost living concert pianists.

In Rachmaninoff the quality of all-round musicianship is developed to a high degree, because of his enviable technique as a composer, with varied creative output, also his reputation as a conductor. The foundation of his reputation as a virtuoso was laid by his creative work, much of which shows an inclination toward 19th century romanticism. His piano compositions are purely classic in style, many of them varied in mood. His individuality is best shown in works similar to his popular Prelude in C Minor.

FARM PICNIC WILL INCREASE INCOMES

MADISON, Wis., July 20.—The farmers' picnic, like the business men's clubs, should be a means of educating our country gentry in the proper methods of conducting their farms.

Solomon Levitan, treasurer of the state of Wisconsin, thus proposes a new plan for lifting the farmer out of the morass of solitude and low profit.

"The farmers' picnic is nothing new, but Levitan asserts not enough take advantage of its benefits.

"Farming is one of the greatest industries and business in the world and it is the poorest organized," says Levitan.

"The real hub of the farmer's troubles is his difficulty in selling. 'Bankers hold group meetings to talk over their problems. I want farmers to do the same.

"That is why I feel that farmers' picnics are one of the greatest educational mediums in the country. If, during the next two or three years, all the farmers of each state would meet in this way and discuss and seek information on the one subject of selling their produce, I think the earnings on the farm would be increased 50 per cent."

12 MEMBERS OF S. A. THEATER CAST SUFFER FROM PTOMAIN POISONING AFTER CAFE MEAL

Twelve West Coast-Walker theater actors and actresses who completed a three-day engagement at the theater here last night suffered severe attacks of ptomaine poisoning Monday and several were in a serious condition for several hours, it became known today.

Two of the girls who appeared in a dance number fainted on the stage and had to be carried to their dressing rooms and two of the men members of the cast became so ill that they were not able to appear at one of the shows, it was said.

The two girls who were stricken on the stage and for whom medical aid was summoned were Miss Betty Toy, 18, and Miss Betty Willey, 19, two of the 16 girls in the dancing numbers. A local physician attended them at the theater.

According to C. E. Walker, manager of the theater, members of the cast had recovered when they left here last night after finishing their engagement. Walter Morrison, 34, stage manager, another of those made ill, was forced to stop work for a day, it was said.

The poisoning was said to have been due to the eating of chicken in a local restaurant, according to statements made by the girls, who told Manager Walker they procured the food Sunday night.

PAY INCREASE IS PLACED UP TO OFFICERS OF SANTA ANA

City Manager Collier Says Policemen Should Prove Their Ability First

SHOTGUN SQUAD'S ACTIVITY CITED

Night Motor Patrolmen Make One Third of All Arrests Since January 1

BY A. B. BERRY
A proposal that another shotgun squad for night patrol duty in Santa Ana, together with a request that the pay of city police be raised, has been presented to City Manager E. B. Collier.

The proposal that another shotgun squad be instituted has also been presented to Claude Rogers, chief of police. Rogers presented the proposal for raise of pay for police to Collier.

Rogers Considers Squad
The question of the addition of another shotgun squad has not been determined. Rogers is considering it in relation to other matters pertaining to the police department.

The question concerning pay received a direct and immediate answer from City Manager Collier. Collier said that the city police should show the people of Santa Ana that they are earning what they are getting before Collier would recommend to the council that their pay be raised.

For several years efforts have been made to procure more pay for Santa Ana's police officers. With each new administration, whether it be a new chief or a new city council, the question of more pay comes up. It is talked, it is discussed and then the subject is forgotten except by the city police.

Pay Declared Low
The pay of officers in Santa Ana is low, one might say unusually low. Where does the trouble lie, with the city, which is the center of the "richest little county in the world?" The police say, "Those who would the city laws and who look after the city's welfare say it is with the officers themselves."

When Santa Ana acquired a new city manager several weeks ago, the question again came up. It was talked, it was discussed and then the chief of police went to the city manager, who, by the way, has been connected with city governments for years and years, and the two discussed the situation.

Should Prove Worth
In a few words, the results of the conference was this: That the city police officers should not get more pay until they proved that they were worth what they were getting at the present time. And that is how the matter stands today.

In other words, it is the opinion of the city manager that all the officers are not earning more pay than they are getting and until they prove that they are worth

TEACHER RETURNS HOME FROM EUROPE

Miss Floy Donaldson, 432 South Parton street, head of the fine arts department of the Santa Ana Junior college, returned to Santa Ana yesterday, having completed a vacation trip to the British Isles, where she visited all the fine art galleries, especially those in London and Edinburgh. Miss Donaldson was enthusiastic over her tour, she said today, but was more than pleased to be back in California. She left Santa Ana shortly after the close of the school term on June 17, being one of a small party of teachers and their friends who left at the same time. Miss Diana Anderson, director of physical education in the junior college, Miss Gertrude Potts, physical education and reading teacher of the McKinley school, with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kellogg, 822 South Birch street, were in the group. When Miss Donaldson returned from England, the other members of the party extended their tour to the continent and are planning to spend most of their time in Italy.

TRANSFERS FOR STUDENTS ARE AVAILABLE NOW

All high school students and graduates who wish transfers to other schools or to colleges should make arrangements to secure them during this week, according to an announcement made by Miss Lulu Finley, who is in charge of the high school office during the absence of D. K. Hammond, principal, and Mrs. H. J. Howard, secretary, who was formerly Miss Kathleen Owens.

Miss Carol Erskine, secretary of the junior college, and McKee Fisk, assistant dean of the college, also are absent, Miss Finley said, and all transfers are being arranged by her personally. Fisk is attending summer school at the University of Southern California and is only in his office at the junior college on Saturdays.

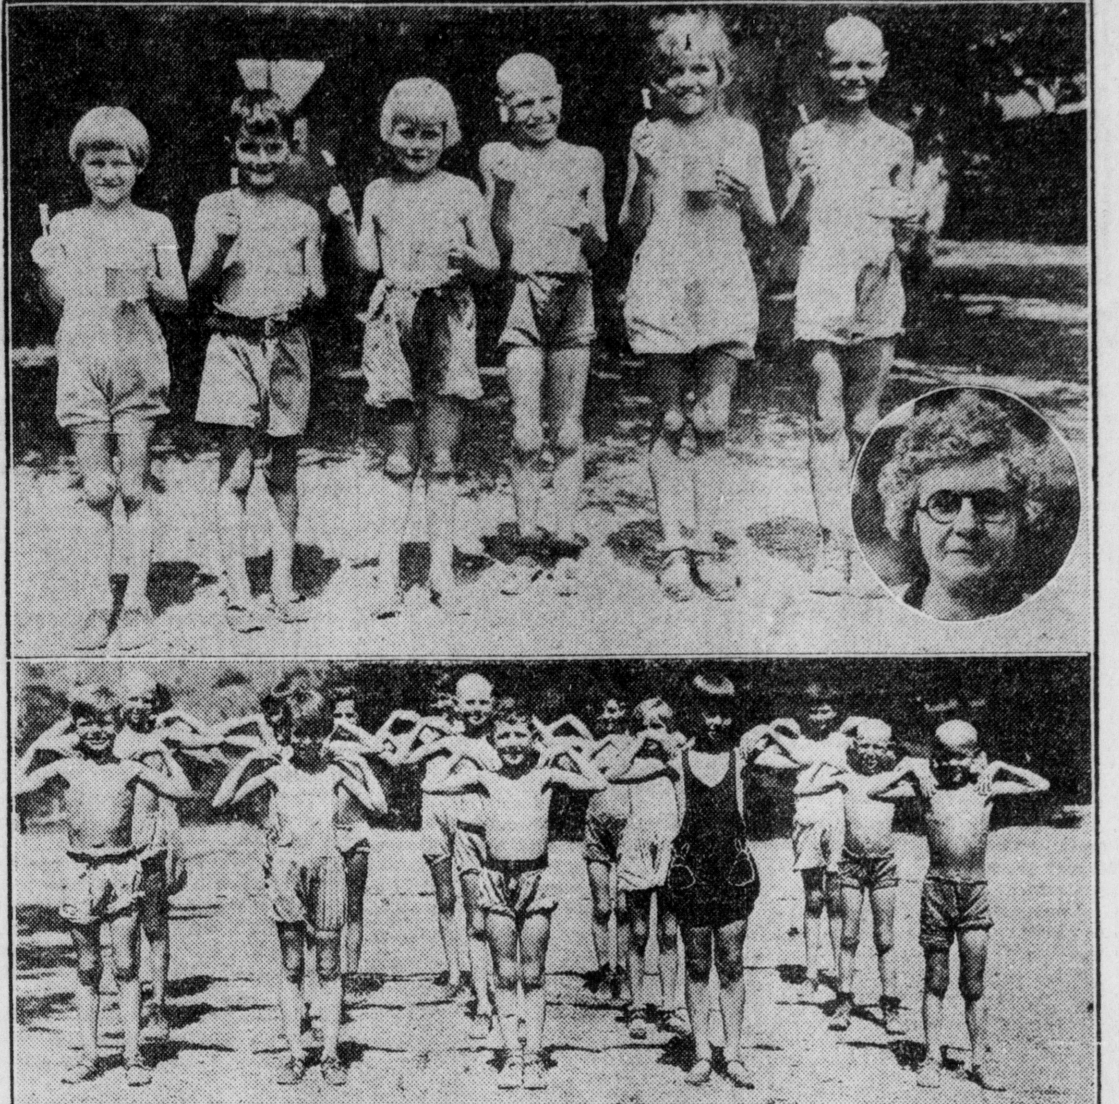

The reason for the announcement, according to Miss Finley, is the fact that she is leaving next week for a vacation. She requests that students try to come to the office between the hours of 9 and 11 in the morning during this week. Miss Finley plans to motor to Sacramento, where she will visit relatives.

Miss Wainwright Seeks Annulment

NEW YORK, July 20.—Helen Wainwright, swimming star, plans to seek an annulment of her marriage to George Leonard Holland, organist in a theater at Oklahoma City. As she explains it, she wore a 10-cent wedding ring in a Dallas theater as a joke, and the manager told the audience that she and Holland, then organist there, had been married. There was a rice shower, the paper announced the marriage, and then, afraid of talk, they were married, she says, but parted forthwith.

LAGUNA ARTISTS' CANVASES AT ST. ANN'S INN INTRIGUE; PRICES FOUND REASONABLE

By ELEANOR ELLIOTT
Not "Art for art's sake," but "Art for Laguna Beach's sake," seems to be the cry of generous minded members of the Laguna Beach Art association, and because that expresses their feelings, Santa Anas are privileged to gaze upon beauty for an entire week, merely by dropping in at St. Ann's inn, which has been turned for the nonce into an art gallery whose walls gleam with treasure.

"What do you think of the picture?" I was questioned, and I smiled, for my judgment of pictures is an immature and an ignorant one. It is founded merely upon the appeal an arrangement of colors and objects makes upon my eye, and thence on heart and mind, and has not the slightest knowledge of value, perspective, composition, chiaroscuro, continuity or anything whereof an artist might judge.

Canvases Gifts
In viewing the collection of canvases at the inn then, I was armed first with an admiration of a group of talented people who would be so generous as to donate some of their most beautiful pictures to the cause of erecting a gallery to house yet other pictures. I remembered that the canvases would sell at prices ranging from $50 to a dozen times $50. I remembered that these paintings were not to be sold, but that they were actual gifts to those who made donations of certain value to the building fund of the Laguna Beach Art gallery. Naturally I was disposed to be kindly in any

43 Youngsters at Orange County Health Camp In Santiago

Marshall the tooth brush brigade.

"Four out of every five" kiddies at the Orange county health camp in Santiago canyon are not afflicted with tooth troubles.

Each afternoon as a part of daily program at the camp, the children have a tooth brush drill. And they are taught the correct way to polish their molars, according to Mrs. Amelia Meagher, superintendent, who is head of the staff in charge of the health camp.

There are 43 children at the camp at present. They go about in the sunlight dressed in as little clothing as possible and with hair shaven close to their heads. Every advantage of the healthful sun rays and open air exercise is taken in order to build up vigorous strong bodies.

A daily schedule is followed at the camp. The rising hour is 6:30 o'clock. Setting up exercises are held under the direction of Miss Evelyn Yount. After breakfast, the boys and girls are allowed a rest period. The day's events include recreational exercises, reading hours and rest periods. All the activities are supervised.

Extreme care is given the diet provided the kiddies. One of the projects which is being sought for the camp is a swimming pool. The location for the pool has been selected and a fund has been started for its construction.

25,000 MILK BOTTLES LOST HERE MONTHLY

Creamery Company Reveals Big Loss in Containers; Seek Solution

Where do all the milk bottles go, the tall ones, the middle sized ones and the short stubby ones?

Figures announced today by Ray Wyckoff, of the Excelsior Creamery company, reveal that 25,000 of them, full of milk for the baby or cream to be whipped for the shortcake, leave the dairy every day, many of them never to return.

They all reach their destination without mishap, but the return trip to the creamery is a much less certain affair. According to Wyckoff, the life of these bottles is just 20 days. At that time they have all either been broken or have retired from active service to lead a life of ease in some dark corner, no longer disturbed by the early hours that milkmen keep. In other words, the Excelsior company replaces 25,000 bottles every month at a cost of over $3000.

Few Bottles Broken

Breakage is a much less important factor in the loss of bottles, said Wyckoff, than failure of customers to return them. At the plant only one per cent of the bottles lost each month are broken. For every customer the company provides seven bottles. Some are being washed, some filled, some are on the trucks and some remain with the customer every day after delivery. The majority of people are careful to return all bottles every day; but many allow their bottles to remain around the house until they become a nuisance and gradually work their way out the back door into the garage or shed, where they either become broken or are neglected indefinitely.

The quart bottles are the most frequent wanderers, 13,000 of them failing to return every month. About 7000 pint and 5000 half pint bottles come up missing during the same period.

Transients Leave Bottles

Apartment houses, asserted Wyckoff, are the most popular hiding places for lost bottles. In some cases 500 to 600 have been found in one building. Transient renters, who leave without remembering to send back their milk bottles, are said to be the cause of this condition. On the other hand private families have established high records occasionally. One woman during the past year found that she had over 100 bottles of various sizes residing in numerous places about the premises.

Containers Exchanged

There is very little so-called grabbing of bottles from one dairy by representatives of another, according to Wyckoff. A mutual system of exchange exists whereby each dairy sorts its bottles so that other plants may come and reclaim those of their own bottles which have strayed away. The majority of the Santa Ana creameries are members of the Los Angeles Bottle exchange, which operates 15 trucks in the country surrounding Los Angeles, and keeps each creamery supplied with its correct number of milk containers. All members of this exchange use what is known as the universal milk bottle, which is easily recognized by its label.

Seek Solution

But even with this service the Excelsior creamery loses 25,000 bottles every month and the search is still going on for some method whereby the bottle question can be settled more satisfactorily. As long as bottles can be broken or lost there is going to be a big turnover, according to Wyckoff.

At the present time what is known as the one service bottle seems to be most likely to solve the problem. A concern in Los Angeles is experimenting with a container which is made partly of a paper composition and which will hold milk for 48 hours if necessary, after which it may be destroyed. Since it is to be used only once, the customer need not bother to return it. The use of such a bottle, said Wyckoff, would settle the question of loss and breakage. At the present time, however, the cost of producing such a container is so great that it cannot be used with any advantage over the old familiar glass milk bottle, which will continue to appear on the doorstep each morning for some time to come.

BALBOA SELLS MAGAZINE STORY

Balboa news stands are sending in rush orders to McClure's magazine for copies of the August number, containing the first accepted story of John Vanderveer Deuel, of Balboa, the latest Orange county person to achieve notice, according to Charles Ehrhorn, of East Newport, who called attention to the story today.

The narrative, "Do You Want to Be a Lindbergh?" is based on the experiences of Deuel as an aviator in the United States army. Ehrhorn said, and is to be followed by a story dealing with Panama, which will appear in Rutter's magazine, of New York. Deuel, who saw service during the World war as an aviator, was urged to write of his experiences by his friends, asserted Ehrhorn, because of his ability in telling stories to children. The young writer is at present operating a launch for C. D. Cheeseman, of Balboa, and preparing additional stories which he hopes to market in the future.

CITY P.-T. A. LIST CONTAINS NAMES OF 34

Thirty-four names appear on the new roster of the Santa Ana City Council of Parent-Teacher associations, prepared by the executive officers and released today by Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, second vice president, who, in addition to that office, holds that of publicity chairman.

New departments added to the regular federation activities of the organization are art appreciation, child hygiene, juvenile and probation, philanthropy, recreational activities, student loans, spiritual training and ways and means.

An outstanding feature of the roster is the appearance of four men's names, their owners holding responsible offices in the federation. This departure from the established custom to have all offices filled by women, Mrs. Robertson explained, is in line with a new policy to not only enlist the moral support and financial aid of fathers and male members, but to secure their active co-operation and services in working for the welfare of young people.

Following are holding office in the federation:

Auditor, E. B. Sprague, vice president of First National bank, Santa Ana, in charge of the trust department. Juvenile and probation, Judge E. J. Marks, of the county superior court. Recreational activities, L. W. Archer, director of physical education, Frances E. Willard junior high school.

Legislation, Attorney George K. Scovel.

Other officers listed on the roster are as follows: President, Mrs. Fay R. Spangler; first vice president, Mrs. Neal Beisel; second vice president, Mrs. Mary B. Robertson; recording secretary, Mrs. P. Johnson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William W. Adamson; financial secretary, Mrs. Fluke Smith; treasurer, Mrs. B. B. Walbridge; historian, Mrs. C. M. Best; parliamentarian, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow (past district president); department chairmen, American citizenship, Mrs. Marshall Harnois; art appreciation, Miss Hazel Bemus; better films, Mrs. Floyd Knight; child welfare and founder's day, Mrs. J. C. Sexton; child hygiene, Dr. Margaret D. Baker; education, Mrs. Hugh Gerard; emblem and magazine, Mrs. C. H. Marcher; extension, Mrs. George N. Greer; membership, Mrs. G. O. Berry; music, Mrs. Frances Beeson; patriotism, Dr. Estelle Workman; philanthropy, Mrs. C. E. Price; pre-school, Mrs. E. C. Phillips; press, Mrs. Mary B. Robertson; program, Mrs. Walter Fine; reception, Mrs. I. J. Owens; student loan fund, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross; thrift, Mrs. Frank Was; study circles, Mrs. J. H. Bower; spiritual training, Mrs. W. W. Hoy, and ways and means, Mrs. Roy W. Beall.

STUDENTS' WORK ON EXHIBITION

A few samples of the work that is being done at the various summer playgrounds in the city, conducted under the supervision of trained instructors, have been placed on exhibition in the show window of T. J. Neal's sporting goods store, 209 East Fourth street. The exhibit includes paper fans, paper flowers, a model airplane, some cross-stitch embroidery, a lamp shade, a paper handbag, and some wooden toys, all made by the playground youngsters. In connection with the exhibit, it was announced by L. W. Archer, playground supervisor, that the woodshops are preparing for an exhibit of their own sometime next month.

INCREASE IN SCHOOL TAXES PLANNED FOR THIS SECTION

Superintendent Mitchell Says Slight Raise Has Been Found Necessary

BIG ENROLLMENTS CITED AS REASON

S. A., Fullerton, Placentia, Yorba Linda Districts Affected in Schedule

An appreciable increase in the school population of Orange county, necessitating new buildings and additional facilities, will call for a slight increase in tax rates in some of the school districts for the coming school year, inquires at the superintendent's office revealed today. The principal increases will be registered in Santa Ana, Fullerton, Yorba Linda and Placentia, it was added. In other districts, it was explained, there will be no raise in the tax rate, notwithstanding increased budgets, this on account of substantial increases in assessed valuation.

Budgets Filed

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, announced today, that all elementary and high school districts in the county have filed their respective budgets for the coming school year, which are now being tabulated with a view to adjusting tax rates to meet financial requirements.

Tentative tax rates, now being worked up by County Superintendent Mitchell, it was learned, are based on last year's assessment roll, and may be slightly revised by the county auditor, particularly in districts where agricultural, industrial or other development has increased the assessed valuation. The recommendations by the county superintendent, after having passed the county auditor's office, will go to the county supervisors, who fix the tax rates.

S. A. Seeks $278,683

The Santa Ana city school district, it was disclosed, is asking for $278,683 in addition to moneys received from the state and county, which amount must be raised by special taxation. Of this amount, $151,150 is needed for the high school, $95,000 for the elementary schools, and $32,533 for the kindergarten department. To raise the necessary funds, it may be necessary to raise the kindergarten rate from 10 to 15 cents, the elementary from 29 to 32 cents, and to levy a 15-cent building tax. The superintendent did not think it necessary to increase the rate for high school maintenance.

ANAHEIM, July 20.—City Engineer E. P. Hapgood was elected president of the Anaheim Municipal Officers and Employers' association at its third annual picnic celebration held Monday evening in the Anaheim city park. Other officers named were Frank Tausch, vice president, and Henrietta Williams, secretary-treasurer. More than 250 members of the association and their families participated in the affair, which was featured by a barbecue dinner served by the police department.

BELIEVE GRAND JURY TO BEGIN WORK AUGUST 1

The county grand jury may not get down to actual investigation of county jail charges before the first of August, it was pointed out in official circles today.

Scheduled to convene Friday morning, on a summons from Superior Judge Homer G. Ames to hold a special session in connection with the jail probe, that grand jury must first organize and then select its own date for opening the investigation, it is said.

The opening date must be set far enough away to allow time for the district attorney to subpoena witnesses, and for Coroner Charles D. Brown to serve such subpoenas. Inasmuch as some of the witnesses may have to travel a considerable distance after being served with summons, to reach Santa Ana, the grand jury will have to wait a few days before the hearings can be undertaken, it was explained.

District Attorney Z. E. West Jr., today expressed the belief that the investigation might not get under way before the end of the month.

Most of the 30 men and women selected for the 1927 grand jury panel will be available, in spite of the vacation season, Coroner Brown announced today. He has so far failed to locate but one venireman. Accordingly, it appears certain that enough of the panel will report Friday to supply the 19 members of the grand jury necessary, without requiring a call for a special venire.

After the 19 names are drawn by the court, Judge Ames will deliver his charge to the grand jury and will appoint a foreman. It is said. It will then be the duty of the grand jury to elect a secretary from among its membership, and proceed to any other organization details necessary. Then the date of the investigation will be fixed.

PAY INCREASE IS PLACED UP TO OFFICERS

more to the city than they are worth today, then the city manager will oppose more pay.

Collier, in an interview today, stated that he was not referring to all Santa Ana officers when he said they should prove they are worth what they are getting now before they asked for more pay. He said there were some that he felt had been underpaid for a long time, but there were others who were asking that were not earning their present pay.

That puts the situation right back to where it has been for several years.

Police Chief's Move
It is Chief Claude Rogers' move if he is to get more pay for his officers. A re-organization of his force, it has been suggested, may furnish the proof asked for by Collier. The shotgun squad is believed to be one change that Rogers may find to be for better service.

At the present time there are 23 men on the Santa Ana police force, including the chief. Of this number, two are motor cops, another is the assistant chief, three are desk sergeants, two are men who await emergency calls in the police station on different shifts, and two are members of what is known as the shotgun squad.

Three men are on beats in downtown Santa Ana from 4 a. m. until noon. Three other are on the same beats from noon until 8 p. m. One man is on what is known as the "railroad" beat, (eastern Santa Ana) four walk beats at night after 8 p. m., and the other is a sergeant in charge of the night force.

It is concerning the shotgun squad that Chief Rogers can make a change, which, it is believed, would aid his department.

Squad Used Auto
The shotgun squad has an automobile and throughout the night the two officers who make up this squad, which gets its name from the fact that they are armed with shotguns, ride over the city, all of its streets, ready to "take on" anything from a speeder or a "drunk" to a burglar.

Because they have a car, distance means nothing, and where the patrolman on foot can cover but little territory, these men can go all over the city, thereby rendering protection to citizens who have never had it before. They are subject to call to any section of the city because they report in to headquarters every half hour.

It has not been long since citizens who live in the outskirts of the city had no police protection unless they called the station. There were sections of the city in which an officer probably had never been.

Make 101 Arrests
With the addition of the squad things have changed. Take the number of arrests this squad has made, for instance. Since January 1, there have been exactly 301 arrests made by Santa Ana officers—that means all Santa Ana officers. Of this number the two men, riding around in a car, have made 101 arrests, more than one third of the total.

If one squad of two men can make one-third of the arrests in a five months period, and at the same time give the residential districts of the city protection it has never had before, what would two such squads be worth to the city?

Advantages Cited
In the first place, if Santa Ana had two squads, Santa Ana citizens of the residential districts would get twice as much protection. At the present time this squad has to circle the entire city. If there were two squads, one squad could police the north side of the city and the other the south side of Santa Ana.

This plan could be put into effect without adding two additional men and thereby salaries would not be increased.

The two men needed to make up a second shotgun squad could be taken from the three who now patrol beats from 4 a. m. until noon, for the duties of these patrolmen are not such that their positions are necessary. Even though it is agreed that they are needed on the early morning shifts, no one could deny that they would be of more service on the night squad—and it is more service that the police department must show, if more money is to be had, according to the city manager.

Protection Given
The protection given by these two men in the forenoon affects several downtown blocks. If they were put on as shotgun officers, they would be giving half of Santa Ana protection. They are supposed to try the locks on doors while on their beats but this is more or less useless, as records will show that burglars seldom operate during the hours these officers are on their beats. They are supposed to aid in handling traffic. Aside from holidays where they are needed to untangle traffic in Santa Ana between the hours of 4 a. m. and noon?

These men, in the writer's opinion, would be of more service to the department and the city, and with them operating as a shotgun squad, they could give more, much more, than they give now.

It's Chief Rogers' move. Talking over the situation, an officer of the night force the other day said: "We never get a chance to show what we can do. Nothing ever happens in Santa Ana."

That nothing ever happens can be charged to the luck of the city, but little did the officer believe that that argument is entirely against more pay. If there is nothing to do, then why have so many policemen? The question is one that the new city manager, as a business man, may be investigating.

AT THE THEATERS

May Robson, Phyllis Haver and Harrison Ford in a scene from "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," picture now showing at the Yost Broadway theater.

Ernest B. Schoedsack and Merian Cooper, co-producers of the jungle melodrama, "Chang," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Clara Bow, star of "Parisian Love," which opens at the Temple theater tomorrow.

WEST COAST-WALKER
Every motion picture director in the industry who has been known to utter dire threats against temperamental actors (this excludes very few) envies Merian C. Cooper and Ernest Schoedsack, producers of the unusual picture.

These gentlemen had the unusual privilege of shooting some of their most important actors as they had finished their performance during the filming of "Chang," which opens today at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Many of the important villainous and comical roles are played by wild beasts of the jungles of Siam, where the picture was taken.

While Schoedsack cranked his camera, Cooper stood by with a high-powered rifle ready to kill the beast as soon as it got within leaping distance.

Unquestionably, "Chang" is a most unique piece of entertainment which makes the spectator wonder at the sheer nerve of the two gentlemen brave enough to film it.

On the stage, in connection with Jack Stern and the band, will be the local elimination contest to select Miss Santa Ana as our representative for the American Beauty pageant. The girls who are entered will appear in person on the stage.

Art Shaw, who has been here just a short time, is featured at the Wurlitzer organ in a colorful solo of his own arrangement.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
Harrison Ford, who plays a featured role in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," had his hands full in bringing his characterization to the screen, during the filming of that comedy which will be on view at the Yost Broadway theater Wednesday.

Not that he was incapable of doing this—but in this picture he had to do some very fast changing, because he is an auto-racing fiend while his loveable aunt believes him to be a famous doctor.

Aunt Mary selects the most inopportune time to pay her nephew a visit—just when he is tuning up his high powered racing car—and she believes him to be conducting a sanitarium.

Assistant directors and property men had to keep a constant watch on Ford, lest he be found dashing into the improvised sanitarium with a monkey wrench or pliers in his hand, when he should be carrying a stethoscope or a pair of surgeon's scissors.

However, as "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" is all fun, much fun was injected into it by Director Erle Kenton.

TEMPLE THEATER
More thought goes into the final scene for a Harold Lloyd comedy than is usually devoted to the average entire comedy.

In the instance of "Hot Water," which closes at the Temple tonight, the situation into which the principal characters were thrust just before the fade-out was due did not permit for a big laugh to close the picture, consequently it was necessary to find a "cute" finish.

Starting tomorrow and showing for four days will be a big double bill, both of the features being first runs in Santa Ana. Clara Bow, that clever little actress, whose versatility is ever amazing, scores again in a colorful role in "Parisian Love." She plays the part of a little Apache girl in the underworld of Paris and

WALLACE SAYS OFFICERS DID NOT CALL HIM

Ray Wallace, former deputy sheriff here, for whom a bench warrant was ordered Monday by District Judge E. J. Henning, Los Angeles, when Wallace failed to appear for arraignment and plea, in connection with the alleged theft of some 140 cases of liquor in Santa Ana in 1925, was in Santa Ana yesterday, blissfully ignorant that he was wanted in Los Angeles Monday, he said.

"I was not called and so I did not go. I didn't know I was supposed to be there at that time," he said.

Wallace said he had not been served with the bench warrant but that he would get in touch with federal authorities immediately to inform them that a mistake had been made relative to the time he was to appear.

Wallace with seven others was secretly indicted by the federal grand jury several weeks ago in connection with the rum scandal. He is free on bail.

S. A. BEAUTIES IN CONTEST TONIGHT

The West Coast-Walker theater, through arrangement with a Los Angeles newspaper, will select the official "Miss Santa Ana" tonight from the girls who have entered the contest.

The girl chosen to represent Santa Ana will compete here again Friday evening, July 22, with the winner of a similar contest held at the West Coast-California theater in Anaheim. The winner of this contest will have the honor of being designated "Miss Orange County" and will be given a week's trip to San Francisco with all expenses paid.

Winners of the San Francisco contest will be sent to Atlantic City to the American Beauty pageant and vie for the title of "Miss America." This may be some Orange county girl, who can tell!

$25,000 BEACH AUTO ACCIDENT CASE SETTLED

Settlement out of court, in the case of Margaret Van Meter against Charles B. Dalzell, involving a claim for damages growing out of an automobile accident, was announced today as the suit came up for trial in superior court.

Alex P. Nelson, counsel for the plaintiff, was authority for the statement that the $25,000 claim had been settled for $5000. Both litigants are residents of Huntington Beach. Margaret Van Meter, 6, was run down by Dalzell's automobile on Huntington Beach boulevard last August and suffered a broken leg, besides cuts and bruises. The damage action was brought on behalf of the child by her father, James O. Van Meter.

Settlement of the action was reached yesterday at a conference between Van Meter, Nelson, Dalzell and the latter's attorney, Joe Crider, Jr., of Los Angeles.

RESENTS SUPPRESSION OF FIGHT PICTURES AS INCONSISTENT

Santa Ana, July 20, 1927.
Editor Register: A word in regard to the action of the local ministerial union in bringing up the 1913 city ordinance prohibiting the display of prize-fighting on local motion picture screens.

First, about the ordinance. The "Register" habitually megaphones from its building blow-by-blow accounts of the principal ring encounters. Immediately afterward it publishes an extra edition giving the same information. Los Angeles papers are sold on the streets carrying like stories. All the newspapers publish pictures of fighters, along with action photos showing blows being struck.

Now, it appears to be an obvious inconsistency to censure the movies for what the newspapers are doing without complaint from anyone. An ordinance of this sort, if aimed at general movie censorship, is bad enough, but when it prohibits an innocent news-reel, it falls under the classification of a "blue law," Puritanical to an absurd degree.

Second, the ministers dragged the law from dust and obscurity to apply it in this particular instance. I say "this particular instance," because it is certainly known that any number of motion pictures have been displayed locally that had prize-fighting scenes incorporated in their stories. The ministerial union is, no doubt, a worthy association, but it forfeits its right to public respect when it dictatorially appoints itself guardian of the public morals and amusements. Beyond that which runs counter to the general good, the private citizen's morals and choice of amusements are certainly his own. Any dictation from ministers, who are paid to teach the word of God, who practice like so many Paulian Mussolinis, is an unwarranted and inexcusable invasion of a field that belongs to laymen.

Sincerely,
VICTOR E. WALKER.

French Provide Special Stamps For Legion Men

PARIS, July 20.—Delegates to the American Legion's convention in Paris in September will have special stamps provided for them by the French postal authorities. They will be of artistic as well as philatelic interest. One, whose value will be 90 centimes, postal card rate, will be red, bearing the head of Washington. Another of blue with the head of Lafayette is to be a franc and a half, the latter for the United States.

The two issues will be sold only during the month of September, which will add to their value for collectors.

RUBBER TREE "DISCOVERED" IN SANTA ANA

If Thomas A. Edison is searching the United States for a rubber plant, hoping to make this country the next rubber center of the world, as stated by his son, he can now announce the conclusion of his search.

The rubber plant has been found right here in Santa Ana.

Edison didn't find it, however. The discovery was made by A. H. Brantley, of 511 East Second street, who called attention to a tree in Birch park, the sap of which appears of have a rubber content.

Many people hereabouts were under the impression that rubber plants are common in this section of the country, though perhaps not of the type that could be commercialized. No great importance has been attached to the tree with the white sap in Birch park.

But the son of Edison, recently arrived in Los Angeles, has announced that his father, aided by nurseryman and botanists, is searching the United States for what seems to be a scarce article—a plant with possible rubber contents. The inventor, according to his son, believes that the plant is somewhere in the country and that America can be a great producer of rubber. Edison, it seems, is anxious to help solve the problem of his friend, Harvey Firestone, the tire maker.

Brantley noticed the statement credited to the younger Edison, so he called attention to the tree in Birch park. He plucked several leaves from the tree. From the leaf stems ran the white fluid, which he proceeded to rub between his finger tips. After a few seconds of kneading, the sap began to take on the familiar gray color and consistency of rubber. In a moment, Brantley held a small ball of what appeared to be extremely "live" rubber in his hand.

Veteran Golfer Seeking Laurels

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—Although husky youths have been winning laurels at "the old man's game" of golf, the U. S. G. A. has for its president a veteran who retains his knowledge of how to sock. Bill Fowles was amateur champion 17 years ago. Now he's seeking the state title, and he put out Max Marston in the second round.

ous room, done in softly tinted Oriental rugs, and hangings to repeat their rich colors and blues, to give my wall above a wide hearthstone, the happy adornment of Clarence Hinkley's restful study, "A Quiet Pose."

Griffith Shows Desert

Nearby hangs the picture presented by William A. Griffith, president of the association, a Coahuila valley scene with the ineffable desert sky that Griffith knows so well, and which arouse nostalgic longings for the desert's solitude every time I see it. I could live happily with that picture.

Benjamin Brown's "Spring in California" is there with all its virginal, vernal beauty and a William Wendt landscape, sombre in tone, but marked by all the flowing rhythm that Wendt expresses. He seems to me to sing with his brush, so rhythmical and satisfying are his pictures.

John Coolidge has caught one of California's loveliest aspects in his "Summer Afternoon," a tender, appealing arrangement of trees against an inviting hillside.

F. W. Cuprien offers "Nocturn" where the sea washes over a shaft of beautifully living light. Thomas Hunt's "Gloster Harbor" presents an effective study of the Atlantic seashore and F. Carl Smith counters with "Laguna Coast," a rock-bound pool whose water is deep, deep, deep, and Aaron Kilpatrick with "Ebb Tide." Alton Clark completes the group on this wall.

"Miller's Cove" Pleases
Nearby is a most satisfying thing—Henri de Kruff's dry water color, "Miller's Cove." You will come back to it again and again, as you will to "Rising Tide" by Frank Coburn, with the water whose oily swells seem to hide such relentless power. That is, you will do this if they impress you as they did me.

And oh, the lovely "Hollyhocks" that Anni Baldaugh offers! But you will have to dive behind a coat-rack to get their full glory. While you are there, turn to see Elsie Palmer Payne's "Along the Quay" and dream on the banks of the Seine, in the pellicled light of a winter day's close. She works in the commercial medium, and her picture is arresting for originality, and an indefinable charm.

$500 for "Desert"
Turn then back to the coat-rack and long for $500 with which to purchase the very last available Conway Griffith. That lovable and friendly man was forced by death to lay aside his brush, but before traveling into the sunset, he gave this beautiful "Desert" to the association for the exact purpose for which it is now being used. It is as beautiful as anything he ever did, and when I see it, I seem to hear his genial greeting and infectious little laugh. He used to be a frequent visitor to The Register editorial rooms, and we were all glad to see him.

As soon as you enter the dining room, you will pause in sheer delight at Anna A. Hills' "Golden Hillside." The coppery tints of the hill, the little break of an arroyo, the mass of eucalyptus shade—all are peculiarly satisfying. "A Summer Day" by William Lees Judson, pictures just such a happy day as almost everyone of us connects with some loved memory of childhood. A peaceful, pastoral scene full of charm and color.

Yes, Canvas Fascinates
A Karl Tens canvas always fascinates me. There is the inevitable touch of humor—sardonic very often, but always delightful. "Sewing Circle at Laguna" is the most delightful thing imaginable. A group of women, busy on their needlework—a mingling of pleasant colors, the air of a busy, happy afternoon. And can you picture my delight when I found that unacquainted as I am with Laguna's splendid women, I could pick out several familiar faces?

What else did I particularly like?
The color and restrained atmosphere of Warden Bethell's "San Fernando Valley." Often have I seen it like that. "Capistrano," by Santa Ana's own young Jean Goodwin, filled with the quiet charm and storied decay of the mission.

And of course those delightful water colors of J. J. Baumgartner on the north wall of the dining room. "Harvesting in Surrey" has all the serenity and beauty that I associate with England, while "In the San Lucia Mountains" is a pure delight to behold with its shadowed peak rising to the heavens. I was interested to learn the identity of J. J. Baumgartner. He is the son-in-law of the late Jerome O'Neill, whose mammoth holdings in ranch lands obviated any necessity of a member of his family from painting as a livelihood. These pictures are then, the natural seeking for expression of a beauty loving soul, and his is truly beauty loving.

All of these things have a bearing on the fact that the pictures are priced most reasonably—yet are valuable indeed. Since he paints for pleasure not for livelihood, it is even said that he frequently gives the results to his friends. Isn't it a pity that we don't all know him? They would be satisfactory things to live with—the final analysis so far as this one ignorant critic is concerned.

Stowaway Given 30 Days In Jail

NEW YORK, July 20.—A deluxe stowaway is getting a fine view of England from a jail window. Daniel David Klein swam in the pool, ate in the first-class dining room and slept in bath-rooms of the Majestic for three days till caught. YOUNG CONVICTS TO HAVE OWN QUARTERS

SAN QUENTIN, July 20.—Young prisoners in San Quentin penitentiary are favored in the announcement by Warden Frank J. Smith that they will be transferred to the new west wing of the prison and entirely separated from the older and hardened criminals.

It is believed to be the first experiment of such segregation in the United States.

According to the warden's plans, the youngest inmates will be moved into the 445 cells of the new wing, which will accommodate 390 persons, each cell being equipped for two.

In allocating the cells care will be taken in selecting boys who have the same temperament and the same vocational objectives to be placed together, Smith said.

SEEK AT LEAST 3500 GLASSES IN JELLY DRIVE

While no goal is set as a voluntary quota by those in charge of the annual jelly drive conducted by the auxiliary of the American Legion, it is the hope of Mrs. Josephine Lykke, president of the auxiliary, and Mrs. H. H. Reeves, chairman of the drive committee, that residents of Santa Ana and nearby communities will contribute several hundred glasses more than were contributed last year.

The drive is to be held Friday and Saturday of this week. On those days jelly, jam, canned fruit or honey intended for the sick men and women at the San Fernando hospital are to be left at Legion hall on Brich street. Girls will be at the hall Friday all day until 5 o'clock and on Saturday all day until 6 o'clock, to receive the glasses and jars of delicacies.

There are about 170 ex-service men at the San Fernando hospital and about 30 women who served as war nurses. All of these men and women are patients for lung trouble. Some have tuberculosis and some are still fighting for their lives against the effects of gas received in battle.

Last year, the jelly drive brought a total of 2300 glasses of jelly and jam. This year, the auxiliary leaders hope the total will be at least 3500 glasses.

SMELTZER BIG BEAN GROWING DISTRICT NOW

By LEORA BLAKEY

SMELTZER, July 20.—With about 6500 acres signed up for lima beans this year, the lima bean industry has made a decided increase over the past season, at which time $500,000 worth of this product went through the Smeltzer bean warehouse alone.

With the gradual increase in lima bean production for this section, which is one of the most extensive bean growing communities in Orange county, local housewives are preparing to make beans one of the staple table foods if lima bean flour comes into its own, as seems probable.

Some of the flour is now being tried out in the community with favorable success and if anyone would like to try the flour made from the lima bean they can secure samples free from Mrs. L. E. Barry, one mile west of Smeltzer.

The flour is made by the California Lima Bean Growers' association, at Oxnard, and the samples were brought to Smeltzer by a local representative of the Smeltzer Lima Bean Growers' association.

These recipes have been tried out and found palatable:

Lima Bean Soup
Two tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons (heaping) lima bean flour.

One and one-half cups milk.
One stereo cube dissolved in one-half cup boiling water.

One tablespoon chopped onion.
Melt the butter, brown flour and onion. Pour milk on gradually.

Add stereo and cube dissolved last. Remove from fire, strain and add salt to taste.

Lima Bean Muffins
One-half cup flour.

One-half cup lima bean flour.

Two-thirds cup milk.

Four teaspoons sugar.

Four and one-half teaspoons butter.

Two teaspoons baking powder.

One-half teaspoon salt.

Mix dry ingredients. Add milk and melted butter. Bake in moderate oven. Make 10 muffins. Nuts, raisins or dates may be added if desired.

Lima Bean Salad
Two small cups dry limas.

Two level tablespoons chopped young onions.

Two level tablespoons chopped young celery.

Two level tablespoons chopped pimiento.

Juice of one lemon.

Pinch of salt.

Salad dressing.

Cook until tender, about one hour. Do not cook too long so they will crush and not be palatable.

Add juice of one lemon to beans. Let stand about one-half hour, follow with the finely chopped onion, celery, pimiento and dressing. Serve on chilled lettuce leaf.

Lima Bean Bread
Four quarts water.

One quart milk.

Five ounces salt.

Ten ounces sugar.

Ten ounces lard.

Seven and one-half ounces yeast.

Six and one-half pounds lima bean flour.

Twelve and one-half pounds hard wheat flour.

Dissolve salt and sugar in four quarts of the liquids. Dissolve yeast in the remaining quart but hold yeast out. When sugar and salt are well dissolved add twelve and one-half pounds of hard wheat flour, partly mix, add yeast; then lima bean flour. Mix a little and add lard in small bits, then work well to a smooth pliable dough.

Let dough stand well covered for one hour and 45 minutes.

Punch down and let stand for 40 minutes, punch again, let stand 25 minutes and punch again and punch in 10 minutes. Scale, round up and pan well with steam. Short proof is desired for this type of bread and bake at a temperature of 400 to 410 degrees.

Federal Farm F-A-C-T-S

Tenant farmers are increasing slowly in the United States, yet more than nine-tenths of the country's rented farms are owned by landlords who live nearby. This is brought out in a study of farm tenancy by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The average American farm landlord has less than two tenant farms of about 100 acres each, and about four-fifths of the owners of rented farms own only one farm.

This country has 1950 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies carrying risks that total about ten billion dollars. This represents about half of all the farm property insurance against fire in the United States.

Ten thousand acres of rice in Louisiana have been destroyed by the recent flood, the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports.

American poultry or egg co-operatives do an annual business of more than $40,000,000, reports the Department of Agriculture. These have a membership of 50,000.

In 1910 there were nine dairy bull associations in the country. Today there are 245 such organizations, and these are scattered through 33 of the states.

83 Quarts Milk Consumed Yearly By Each Citizen

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—California last year, according to figures compiled by the bureau of dairy control of the state department of agriculture, consumed 83 quarts of market milk—that is delivered by the milk man during the wee-small hours of the morning. This represents eight quarts over the per capita consumption of the previous year.

The total amount of market milk distributed in the state last year was 108,362,554 gallons, against 101,705,518 gallons were distributed in 1925.

Fulfillment of the needs of Los Angeles county during the year required 41,019,005 gallons of milk, while 12,563,041 gallons were consumed in Alameda county and 15,762,250 gallons were distributed in San Francisco.

COUNTY YOUTH TO ENJOY FARM CAMP

BY RAYMOND ELLIS
Assistant Farm Advisor

There is much excitement among Orange County Agricultural club boys as July 21 and the annual summer camp approaches. Since the very successful camp conducted at Camp Osceola last year the boys have been looking forward to this year's camp with a great deal of pleasure. At the present time there are some 40 boys and adult leaders signed up with a few more probably coming in during the next two weeks. The camp can easily accommodate 75 boys, so that any one wishing to go may still be assured of a place.

This year's camp will have several features which will make it still more attractive than last year. In the first place the camp will run for a full week, which gives the boys a chance to work into the swing of camp life, as well as giving time enough to play off a regular schedule of athletic events.

There will also be time to hike to several places which could not be visited last year, due to lack of time.

Another attraction will be a special study of forestry and trees to be conducted by Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester for California. Mr. Metcalf is familiar with trees in all parts of the state and will give the boys short talks at intervals during the week. With Mr. Metcalf from the University of California will also be W. R. Ralston, assistant state club leader, who is probably known and liked by more rural boys than any other one man in the state. Ralston is a wonderful entertainer and has a great deal of success in conducting camp fire programs. Any boy who misses these camp fires will certainly miss a wonderful time.

The party will leave Santa Ana Sunday morning at 6:45 returning home the following Saturday afternoon.

SCHOOL PUBLISHES CAULIFLOWER BOOK

"Cauliflower Production in California" is one of the latest publications of the college of agriculture of the University of California, and it describes in detail the industry in this state. The publication, which is circular 11 of the agricultural extension service, may be had free by writing the college at Berkeley, or from any farm advisor in the state. H. A. Jones, associate professor of truck crops and plant breeder in the experiment station, and F. H. Ernst, assistant farm advisor in Los Angeles county, are the authors of the circular.

Cauliflower is a crop of economic importance in California, the circular points out, the production centering around Los Angeles and San Francisco, although many counties produce appreciable quantities. It is not one of the easy crops to produce as it requires close personal supervision, but it has no serious diseases as yet and its insect pests are usually easy to control.

The circular tells of soil requirements, how to prepare a seed bed and to manage it, how to lay out the land for irrigation, to plant and to irrigate, how to cultivate, blanch and harvest the crop and how to grade, standardize and pack the product. Insect pests and diseases are described and control remedies recommended.

Coast Nurserymen Select Officers

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—The Pacific Coast Association of Nurserymen, in convention here, elected the following officers:

President, Clarence Malme, Seattle, general vice-president, Clayton B. Lewis, Portland; regional vice-presidents, H. E. Weed, Beaverton, for Oregon; W. C. Thomson, of Tacoma, for Washington; D. C. Coolidge, Pasadena, for California; Joseph Brown, Vancouver, B. C., for British Columbia; Charles T. Hawkes, Caldwell, for Idaho; F. W. Walton, Salt Lake City, for Utah.

HENS EARN MORE
Hens of Ohio farmers who kept cost records of their flocks earned more for their owners in 1926 than formerly. The average hen last year paid its owner $3.23 for labor and feed, against $2.69 in 1925 and $2.50 in 1924.

TUSTIN CITRUS MEN TO ISSUE SMUDGE SIGNAL

BY ROSS A. SHAFER

A group of Tustin men, representing citrus growers, householders and the Tustin Frost Protection league, met last spring in an effort to reduce to a minimum the smoke and soot which results from the firing of orchard heaters during the periods of low temperatures.

A sub-committee, whose personnel included members from the various elements interested, was detailed to consider the different phases of the problem and suggest means of bettering the situation where possible. After investigations in the field, this committee submitted its report in the form of a resolution in which certain recommendations were made.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the parent group. Its essential features were recommendations that:

Growers heating orchards install and use general alarm, in order that householders, being warned of impending smoke, might close house openings; and

That the best obtainable oil be used, and careful attention be given to the regulation of heaters; and

This group undertook to encourage the use of the best available heaters in new installations and replacements; and approved certain types of heaters as giving a minimum of objectionable smoke under actual firing conditions.

I am glad to be able to inform you and your readers that our conference, meeting in a spirit of reasonableness, and for our mutual interest, has already brought about some measurable results.

Tustin growers, in connection with the local fire department, have installed a five-horsepower, 20-inch electric siren, to be used as a warning to growers and householders alike.

Manufacturers of heaters are meeting our challenge, and as a result, several have heaters on the market which, when properly used, are a big improvement over older types, and will give sufficient heat with a substantial reduction of smoke.

For your information, the following heaters have been approved for use in our district, after extensive field tests:

The tall stack type with louver and down draft; and the double stack, open flame heater, sold by the Sehen National Orchard Heater company.

The tall stack Kittle reservoir type made by the Kittle Manufacturing company (the last above with a special grade of oil), and

The Citrus Gas Flame type with baffle plate, made by the Riverside Sheet Metal works. This last is a direct answer to the work of the committee and is a commendable effort on the part of the manufacturer to meet conditions.

I know I speak the sense of the committee, when I say that we are conscious that for us to approve or disapprove of something for our fellow growers is an act of consummate "gall," but we feel that if we can help our neighbors to try in every way to lessen their smoke and can make our townspeople realize that we growers are making a sincere effort to reduce the objectionable features of our heating operations, we will have some justification.

MANY POULTRYMEN KEEPING RECORDS

BY W. M. CORY
Assistant Farm Advisor

Twenty-two poultry farms in Orange county entered into poultry management efficiency study instigated by the agricultural extension service. The study began on February 1, of this year. Monthly record cards comprising the items of expense and income and other management features occurring during the month on each ranch are sent in to the extension office to be summarized.

There are 17,000 birds in the study. The farms in the study were divided into groups, those having less than 800 birds and those having more than 800 birds. There were an average of 417 birds in the first group and 1084 in the second group. The first group averaged 15.5 eggs per hen in May with 50 per cent production and 1.55 per cent mortality. The second group averaged 16.2 eggs per hen for the same month with 52.3 per cent production and 1.51 per cent mortality.

As will be seen, the average egg production was higher in the commercial flocks than in the smaller flocks and the mortality lower. This is the reverse to what one might expect. The highest individual flock production was 67.4 per cent, and the highest flock mortality of 2.33 per cent were both obtained in the first group. The lowest flock production in the first group was 37.1 per cent and the lowest in the second group was 43 per cent. The highest flock production in the second group was 65.5 per cent. The highest mortality in the second group was 2.3 per cent and the lowest .46 per cent.

On the average, as shown by this month's summary, the larger flocks handled better and the unprofitable hens removed quicker. When production gets down the flock should be thoroughly gone over and hens showing that they have stopped laying removed. By so doing the feed bill is decreased and the average egg production increased.

Farm Protection Cost Is Million And Half Yearly

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Augmenting the activities of the state in protecting the agricultural industry, California's 58 counties last year expended a total of $1,535,229. Of this $1,535,229 went for inspecting livestock and other products raised on the farms, while $1,038,490 was spent in the horticultural commissioner and farm advisory work, the latter branch being to aid the farmer in improving crops.

The balance of the expense, $129,407, went to pay for protecting the herds from predatory animals, having been spent in paying bounties on coyotes and mountain lions and such other animals as the counties pay for having exterminated.

NURSERY BUSINESS TOTALS 3 MILLIONS

More than 4000 acres are devoted to the production of nursery stock in California, according to a report recently by Everett L. Smith, superintendent of the nursery service, state department of agriculture. This acreage, it is stated, produces nearly $3,000,000 worth of nursery stock annually.

The report further shows that 1629 nurserymen have been licensed by the department in 1937 as against 1528 in 1926.

Acreage devoted to ornamental stock constitutes nearly half of the total planted, while that devoted to deciduous comes second. The acreage is divided into: ornamental 1704, deciduous 885, bulbs 479, citrus 344, miscellaneous 600.

"Fully 75 per cent of the nurserymen registered in California," stated Smith, "are growers and 600 of these reside in Los Angeles county alone. The coast counties seem to be best adapted to the growing of ornamental stocks of all kinds, while the deciduous stock comes principally from the interior valleys north of Tehacapi. The bulk of citrus stock comes from Southern California."

The tendency among nurserymen in California, according to Smith, is to develop their reputations around one or two specialties or improved strains of a certain variety, although the majority carry both deciduous and ornamental stock.

FOOD IN STORAGE RECORDS INCREASE

Increased cold storage stocks of poultry, meats, butter and eggs on July 1 as compared with the same date last year are reported by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Total holdings of frozen poultry, including broilers, fryers, roasters, fowls, turkeys, and the miscellaneous poultry are placed at 50,059,000 pounds against 36,730,000 pounds July 1 a year ago, and a five-year average of 43,323,000 pounds.

Meat stocks, including beef, pork, lamb and mutton, totalled 949,815,000 pounds July 1 against 705,729,000 pounds last July, and a five-year average of 889,298,000 pounds. Stocks of lard are given at 146,250,000 pounds against 120,527,000 pounds last year.

Holdings of creamery butter aggregated 910,116,000 pounds against 86,897,000 pounds last year, and the stocks of case eggs were 10,554,000 cases against 1,153,000 cases on the same date a year ago. War On Coyotes Nets 1200 Skins

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Twelve hundred California coyotes, by actual count, have paid with their lives since Jan. 1 either for their own killing characteristics or for the reputation of the species as murderers.

Those killed because of the reputation of the species as killers were young pups that were dug out of the dens before they were big enough to begin raiding pig sties and poultry coops.

The others were adults slain by federal hunters.

Calf Produces 1 Gallon Milk Day

CANYON, Tex., July 20.—An 11-month old calf, owned by the West Texas State Teachers' college, has been producing an average of one gallon of milk daily.

This was discovered when a caretaker found the calf nursing a younger calf and investigated. The mother of the calf is Golden Lassie's Princess, daughter of George Knight's Peck, both connected with a strain of record Texas milk producers.

Japs To Join In Vineyard Group

FRESNO, July 20.—A resolution endorsing the work of the California Vineyardists' association and urging all Japanese growers to join, has been adopted by the Federation of Japanese associations of Central California, it was announced today.

The action was taken in the semi-annual meeting of the federation here.

FRUIT GROWERS THREATEN TO LET CROP ROT

MARYSVILLE, July 20.—Threatening to let their peaches rot and drop off the trees before they will accept the proposition of the canners' league of a sliding scale of prices ranging from $12.50 to $35 a ton, growers representing 50,000 tons of peaches last night decided upon a definite program of action to obtain a fair price for their crop this year.

The growers decided to work in close co-operation with the California Canning Peach Growers' association in working out a solution to the market problem. They agreed to limit the quantity of No. 2 peaches offered to the packers to cut down the size of the pack. No growers will be permitted to offer No. 2 peaches in excess of five per cent of the number ones or top grade peaches.

The peach producers' war with the canners was precipitated several weeks ago when a price of $30 a ton was set for this year's crop. Growers from Sutter, Yuba and Butte counties formed a 50,000 ton pool and agreed to fight for better prices.

Orange Pulp Used For Cattle Food

HAYWARD, July 20.—Hayward dairymen are showing interest in an experiment conducted by the University of California college of agriculture experiment station which proved that orange pulp is a valuable feed for milk production.

Orange pulp consists of the rind, flesh and seeds of the orange, and a small amount of the the uncovered juice, oils and other extracts. Faced with the problem of disposing of thousands of tons of orange pulp the annual residue from manufacturing processes, an orange products company appealed to the university for assistance in determining the value of this waste as a food for livestock.

The results of the investigations show that dried orange pulp is a satisfactory feed for dairy cows, having the value for milk production approximately equivalent to that of dried beet pulp, and that neither dried nor fresh orange pulp has any effect on the butterfat tests.

Hawaii's People

SKETCHES BY BESSEY
SYNOPSIS BY BRAUCHER

By Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-25

To the south and west of the Hawaiian Islands are the Philippines, named for King Philip II of Spain and first seen by Magellan. There are more than 7000 islands in the Philippines. The 1920 population was more than 10,000,000, of whom not more than 12,000 were white. A Filipino is shown here plowing, with a buffalo hitched to the plow.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-25.

Thousands of people in Manila live in house-boats moored in the Pasig river, as shown in the picture above.

Here is a typical village of the Igorrotes, a fierce people who until recently were noted as head hunters.

The resources of the islands are very great. Gold, silver, iron, lead, zinc, copper, sulphur, petroleum and lead are found. There are thousands of coconut-palms. The coconut-palm furnishes food, drink, oil, timber and rope, a tree producing about a hundred nuts a year. Here natives are shown piling nuts for market.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Twas queer to see the Tines run along and find the Chocolate Lake? It isn't very far from here. There's nothing there that you need fear." And Scouty said, "I guess we will. I have a tum-ache."

And so they bid the man goodbye and started off with merry cry. Said Carpy, "This is going to be like queer things in our dreams." And sure enough, he seemed just right, for soon they saw a funny sight; a very funny little group of pure white candy creatures.

They watched the creams run round about, and then with quite a happy shout, they saw them jump upon a board until they thought 'twould break. "Why, that's a springboard," said one. "No wonder they have heaps of fun. That's how they get their chocolate coats—by jumping in the lake."

SWIMMING SIMPLIFIED

RELAX ON BACK, IN WATER, IS FIRST STEP IN BACK CRAWL

BY JAMES A. LEE

Athletic Director Cleveland (Ohio) Athletic Club

To learn the back crawl, recognized as the standard stroke for swimming on the back, the swimmer must first learn to lie on his back and relax. This will immediately prove the buoyancy of the body in the water.

With the body afloat, begin the kick. This is just like the kick in the crawl, but allow less play from the hips to knees, making the leg movements chiefly with the lower part of the legs.

After getting the legs in motion, pass to the arm stroke. The arms travel around in a semi-circular fashion always, one counterbalancing the position of the other.

Relax, turn the thumbs down on the recovery, bend the elbow and draw head first until elbow passes head, then reach hand straight over the shoulder and pull about three-quarters side, carry other arm through recovery as drive is made. Keep working hard at the kick and don't endeavor to make too much speed.

The breathing and the counter roll are the same as in the crawl stroke. Relaxation is what makes the stroke. In the back stroke, the mouth will always be above the surface. If your position is good, you may breathe in and out at any time, but if you space the breathing with the movements of the arm, as in the crawl, it will be better for the general rhythm of the stroke.

TOMORROW: Breast stroke.

Beauty and Health

by Edna Kent Forbes

A FIRM MOUTH

Beauty treatments, such as massage, cold creams and such outside aids will do your mouth little good if it is ugly or weak. That does not mean that you have to leave it as it is, and do nothing about it if you aren't satisfied with it. The real beauty treatment goes deeper than the skin.

Take a lot of snapshots of yourself or professionally posed photographs covering a period of several years, and look at them in order, always covering the upper part of the picture and looking only at your mouth. This is a most interesting experiment to make whether or not you think your mouth ugly, or want to do anything about it.

I know one woman who was so lovely to look at her husband had a standing order with a big photographer to have pictures taken of her once every six months. One day she put a pile of them together, in rotation, really thinking to find how much she'd aged in seven years. The 14 pictures showed her, not growing aged, but a gradually hardening and tightening of a once lovely mouth. She looked at the 14 pictures of her mouth, covering the rest of the photographs little by little. It was growing hard, and discontented, and cruel. Actually its shape was changing. She was a sensible woman and self critical and she suddenly realized the way her character was changing. The mouth is always the index. She did change, and her mouth showed it—she was lucky to have a record before her.

Use the same method to find out what's wrong with your mouth—if anything is wrong. If it's loose and weak, hold it more firmly closed. If it sags discontentedly at the corners, force a smile a couple of dozen times a day—that will stop that sagging.

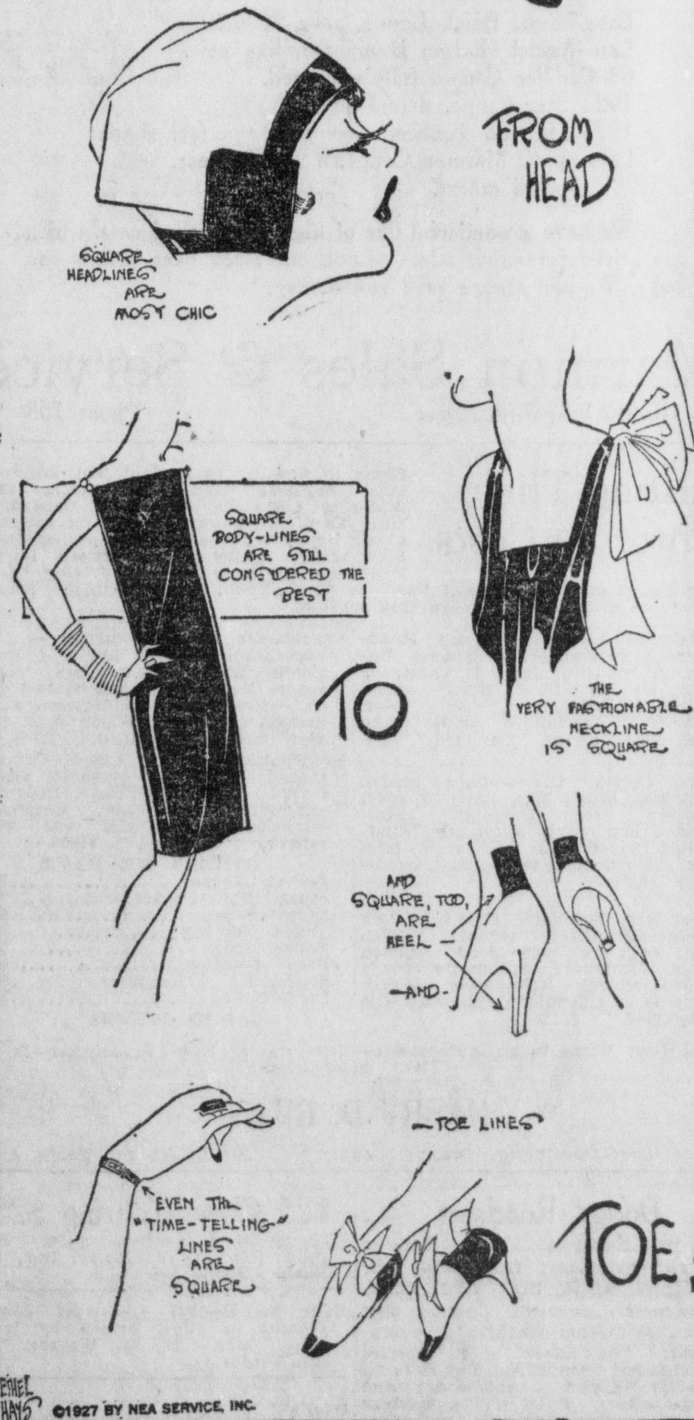

Try looking at only the lower part of your face

If it's getting hard and cruel looking, remember to keep it relaxed. If your jaw is actually badly formed, (and this makes your mouth ugly,) go to a dentist, or rather, an orthodontist, and see what can be done to improve your teeth and jaw.

M. I.—Neither the cleaning nor the complexion cream made by the formulas I sent you will cause hair to grow. They would not increase this tendency if you were so troubled. There is much nourishment in the cream with almond oil basis, and you should not need any more than this for any purpose except that of filling out hollows.

THE NEW WORLD

This old world is ever new, Always some one learns to do Something never done before. Youth is at an open door, Leading into fields wherein There is much for him to win.

What is of the past is old, History is a tale that's told, But the histories still to be None can tell and none can see. Every morning seems to bring Into life some wondrous thing.

This old world is ever new, Dreams are always coming true. Some tomorrow holds a joy Now unthought of, for a boy, At the door of life he stands With the future in his hands.

What is done, is nothing to What the mind of man shall do, Countless splendors wait their day, Countless books unwritten stay. One shall do, ere night is o'er, Something never done before.

HERE IS BEST METHOD FOR DAILY CLEANSING OF FACE

How the all-important cleansing cream is applied to the face—always with an upward movement. Posed for NEA Service and the Register by Louise Clerc, one of "America's" fifteen most beautiful women.

BY MME. ANNE GERARDE

For NEA Service

To cleanse your face daily of every particle of soot and dirt, take the following treatment:

Sneez thoroughly with a good, thin cleansing cream, manipulating the skin gently to loosen the dirt around the nose and chin and then wipe carefully with a cloth or tissue paper napkin.

Take a little skin food on tips of fingers and gently massage upward. Never try complicated movements, if inexperienced, for fear of hurting the muscles, veins and glands. Pat the face briskly but lightly until you feel the blood surge up.

Leave the skin cream on about a half hour, or at least while taking your bath. Remove, also with upward motion. Never leave any cream or make-up on your face while you sleep. The skin must be free to breathe and excrete waste matter that needs eliminating.

25 COUNTIES SIGN FOREST FIRE CONTRACT

SACRAMENTO, July 20.—Adhering to the old principle that "In union there is strength," 25 California counties have signed co-operative fire fighting agreements with the state board of forestry to expedite coordinated effort in cutting down the state's tremendous fire losses. State Forester M. B. Pratt announced today.

The county contracts signed this year mark a new record in the growth of the co-operative fire prevention and suppression movement, Pratt declared, and large savings in timber, grain and grazing land have already resulted from extension of the forest patrol lines. Last year only 13 counties were in the co-operative list.

Approximately $31,000 has been contributed by the 25 co-operating counties for fire protection this year, the state forester asserted, and the state government has increased its application for the work in proportion.

Here are the co-operating counties and their rangers on the 1927 roll, which it is expected will form the nucleus of a fire fighting organization that eventually will embrace every section of the state: Kern, Roger Wood, Bakersfield; Yuba, D. B. Ruth, Dobbins; Tuolumne, Edgar A. WOMAN TELLS OF TALL SUNFLOWER

That all the tall hollyhocks and sunflowers do not grow in Santa Ana was pointed out today by Mrs. Anna Becker, 1927 West Third street, who claims to have nurtured a hollyhock in Los Angeles last week which reached the height of 21 feet, and a sunflower which measured 20 feet in height.

Mrs. Becker recalled the Santa Ana hollyhock in the garden of Mrs. Frank Harris, 2330 Bush street, a picture of which appeared in the Register on July 11, and which had reached a height of 15 feet at that time. This, she said, prompted her to tell of her own fast growing flower, a picture of which appeared in the Los Angeles Daily News on April 28, 1926.

Mrs. Becker has been living in Santa Ana with her son, John Becker, since June 9, and has already begun her gardening, having a plant which she calls half pumpkin and half squash, growing in her backyard. It has not yet matured, however. She and her son, who works for the Pacific Electric railway in Los Angeles, plan to remain in Santa Ana permanently.

Urge Americans Take Education More Seriously

BERKELEY, July 20.—If America is to become a real democracy, education will have to be taken much more seriously than it is at present.

This is the view of Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, former president of Amherst college, as expressed in a lecture on "Education for Democracy" at the University of California summer session.

"We have not yet begun to make a system of education in America," declared Dr. Meiklejohn. "Humanity seems to have taken upon itself the task of developing a democracy. A democratic teacher is one who believes it possible his pupils can think but how few of these we have in this country nowadays. There is only one way to get people to develop intelligence and that is to expect it of them."

DEMPSEY, SHARKEY REST ON BATTLE EVE

JOHNSON MAY DIRECT THIRD MAJOR LEAGUE

New Venture Almost Sure To Be Launched in '28 With Plenty of Backing

NEW YORK, July 20.—There is a third major league in the offing, which, unless present plans fail, will be launched in 1928. Six prominent capitalists are back of the scheme. Three of them have dabbled in baseball before.

Rumor has it that Ban Johnson, the man who put over the American league and who has made baseball what it is today, will be asked to promote and pilot the new organization.

Back in 1900, when Ban Johnson conceived the idea of a second major league, he was ridiculed and the National league refused to take him seriously, yet in three years it was suing for peace and agreeing to the terms dictated by President B. B. Johnson of the American league.

If Ban Johnson accepts the proposition that is certain to be tendered to him, it will in many ways be an easier battle than he faced 28 years ago in an effort to finance a second big league.

Ban Knows Ins and Outs

Nearly 30 years of experience in administering the affairs of the American league has familiarized Johnson with every minute detail. He knows how much money is needed to finance a league, knows the salaries of every big league ball player and is in touch with any number of capitalists anxious to put some of their surplus money in a baseball venture.

Even more important is the fact that after these many years of stifled competition, the public will welcome a new entry into the field of major league baseball.

Just as important is the fact that so dominant a figure as Ban Johnson at his head will have the backing of baseball fans the country over. A majority of them do not believe that he has had a square deal. Also, fandom is always with the underdog and in this case it happens to be B. B. Johnson.

If Johnson accepts the proposition to promote a third league, which is shortly to be broached to him, Chicago would be one of the cities certain to be in the western end of the circuit. It would be a south side club in order to offer direct competition to his hated rival, Charles Comiskey.

Detroit Would Be Invaded

Detroit, with only one big league club, surely would be invaded. The other western cities would probably be selected from St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Since Phil Ball, who owns the only major league park in St. Louis, has been Johnson's lone backer in his latest troubles, it seems as if St. Louis would get a berth in the proposed new league. It is known that Ball is ready to retire from the American league.

In the east, New York, Philadelphia and Boston would be considered. Boston with its two joke teams is ripe for a third league. Washington is regarded as a possibility, yet several of the capitalists back of the project favor regarding Pittsburgh as a member of the eastern end of the circuit.

Those who feel that Ban Johnson will align himself with the new organization point to the fact that he refused to accept $320,000 which he could claim under his

PLAN SHAKEUP IN ALL-STARS' LINEUP FRIDAY

In the wake of a disappointing showing against Anaheim, it was whispered about local night baseball circles today that the lineup of the Santa Ana All-Stars would be subjected to a general reorganization for the next Orange County league contest at Garden Grove Friday evening.

Manager John Wilcox makes no secret of his belief that his team has not been playing the type of ball of which it is capable. He is satisfied that "heads-up" playing would have prevented that terrible fifth inning aviation exhibition in the tiff with the Colonists.

Garden Grove has a dangerous ball club and Wilcox will take no chances with this team which recently defeated Anaheim, handing the Colonists their first thrashing of the season.

Just what changes Wilcox plans are not known definitely although it is believed that he contemplates the temporary benching of "Memphis" Hill, ordinarily the sparkplug of the team but who has gone stale in his last few starts. Hill is a smart, fast, game little ball player but he would profit from a week's vacation. Anaheim benchman "Rosy" Merrill got back in the row and Merrill got back in the game against Santa Ana and hit safely three times, one of his smacks being a triple that scored two men.

Two new outfielders, probably will join the club at Garden Grove and there is a possibility that a couple of new infielders, probably Ray Smith and Orlyn Robertson, will get a workout there. Smith at second base and Robertson at first. Bill Foote is expected to be used at shortstop.

The addition of Daley has been expected for several weeks. In fact, many local circles have wondered why the fleet, hard-hitting youngster was not added to the roster a long time ago because he is certainly one of the Santa Ana City league's best flybatters and he is leading the whole loop in swatting.

contract, so that he would be under no obligations to the American league.

LENGTHY CAREER OF M'GRAW OBSERVED

NEW YORK, July 20.—With the cheers of 25,000 baseball fans to encourage him, John McGraw today entered on his second quarter century as manager of the New York Giants.

Mayor James J. Walker presented McGraw with a huge silver trophy

WILCOX OUTPITCHES HITT AS PLATT SILVERTOWNS SLOW UP BANK'S CLIMB PENNANTWARD

Baffled by the trajectories dispensed by "Eeny" Wilcox, the First National bank's spectacular roughshod ride toward the Santa Ana Night Baseball league goal was slowed down to a walk at Lincoln park last evening when the Platt Silvertowns supported their astute little pitching genius with some robust hitting and some flossy infielding in grinding out a 5 to 1 victory.

Wilcox got away a bit unsteadily, two singles and a pass leading to a Shylcock run in the first inning but he was stingy as all get-out after that, allowing only three scattered hits in the last eight frames and walking only one in the same duration which showed his control was all that it should have been.

Hitt Hit Hard

Gene Hitt was on the firing line for the Bankers and was banged much harder than usual, the Silvertowns pouncing on him for two counters in the first, two more in the third and one in the fourth before he got his bearings and began taking the boys out of there in his customary manner.

This was the bank's first setback after a sensational winning streak of four games which brought them from the cellar up to a commanding position for first place.

Burns brought in the only Shylcock score. He beat out a punt to open the game and went to second on a passed ball after R. Le Bard and Hitt had popped out. Heard drew a walk and Don Jerome singled to score Burns.

Platts Busy Too

The Platts got that one back and another for interest in their half of the round, Scott working a pass and Smith getting a life on Finster's error. Babcock and Lutz went out infield and the runners moved up on each play, Scott scoring and Smith taking third from whence he scored on Wilcox's single to left.

Hits by Smith, Lutz and Wilcox, a wild pitch and an error by Le Bard produced two more Platt runs in the third and a single by Scott, his steal of second, a wild pitch and Lutz's single accounted for the last run.

The league-leading Santa Ana Lumber company plays the rejuvenated Santa Ana Firemen, who have won their last two starts, in tonight's league fracas. The score:

BOSTON BOXER IS STILL 8-5 BET FAVORITE

Ex-Champ Again Expresses Confidence That He Will Win Within 4 Rounds

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 20.—Jack Dempsey and Jack Sharkey, the principals in another one of Tex Rickard's million dollar shows, billed for the Yankee stadium tomorrow night, were resting today near the scene of battle.

Sharkey finished his work yesterday in the "hot house" on top of Madison Square Garden and Dempsey came in from White Sulphur Springs, where he trained for what he hopes to be his great comeback.

While the trainers of the two fighters were planning to put their charges through the last limbering-up exercises, the fatigued clerks in Rickard's office were laboring through a basketful of last order demands for "a seat in the front row."

Rickard was hiding out after leaving the announcement in his office that he had "been licked by the demand for tickets." Joe Boynton and Benny Bennett, his star men in the box office, were willing to express the opinion that no fight in history had attracted the same demand for tickets and that the gate was sure to be more than $1,250,000.

Rickards Snowed Under

Rickard's private office was too busy to figure any definite sum on the advance sales but Al Luce, his business manager, said he was sure he had taken in more than $375,000 and the unreserved seats have not been placed on sale yet.

Sharkey was still an 8 to 5 favorite in the betting today. Commissioners who take and place bets predicted that the Boston heavyweight might be better than 2 to 1 when they enter the ring. Stories about Dempsey's crippled left arm, which have been grossly exaggerated have influenced the betting odds considerably.

If there is anything the matter with Dempsey's left arm or his right arm or his left leg or his left right leg, this writer is as blind as a bat. Leo Flynn, Dempsey's manager, did say in Saratoga in the presence of the writer that Dempsey's muscles had been torn and that bandages had been used on him at night but he certainly did not say that there was anything serious in the soreness.

Dempsey Remains Confident

"If there is anything wrong with that fellow's arms, we're glad of it because he would be ruined if they were right," Dave Shade and Marty Burke said.

Dempsey reiterated last night he expected to win in less than four rounds but if the fight had to go the limit, he was sure he could win the decision.

"I don't know where they get the idea that I can't go more than a few rounds," Dempsey said. "I went 12 hard rounds against Bill Brown and I went 15 rounds against Tom Gibbons and don't let anyone tell you that Gibbons was a cinch then."

"That stuff about my bad arm is the bunk. I feel just as well now as I did before the Firp fight and you newspapermen seem to think that that was my best fight."

Not Much Wagering

While there is a lot of Sharkey talk in the air, there hasn't been as much betting as usually can be expected on a big fight. The "smart money" would like to know how Sharkey is going to fight; the "smart money" knows how Dempsey will fight because he never has fought any other way.

Sharkey would be a 4 to 1 choice if he went out to make a distance fight of it, but he's no better than an even money bet if he goes out to slug with the former champion.

Dempsey isn't any "hollow shell" and he's in good shape and as long as Dempsey is able to stand on his feet he can knock out any heavyweight in the business with one punch. Sharkey is no one punch killer and he has been stopped many more times than Dempsey. If he elects to trade punches with Dempsey he will get the worst of the trade unless he has some hidden dynamite that he hasn't shown up to this time.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

LARGE TOMATO PACK IS SEEN IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 20.—A banner season for tomato canning is seen for the Cutler-Lobingir cannery, officials of the company stated today. Preparations are being made to handle a much larger crop than last year, when the crop was very large.

The tomato season will open about September 1 and will last about three months. The bean canning season will close in two weeks, it was stated.

The tomato canning requires the labor of approximately 350 persons, most of whom are women. The tomato canning is the largest activity of the year.

During the present operations in bean canning 125 persons are employed and an output of about 15,000 cases is in view. Most of the beans come from the Los Angeles market, although there is a large percentage of the beans raised in this district.

The spinach season, which was before the bean season, was considered very successful by the officials. There were 32,000 cases of locally produced spinach canned at the Fullerton plant.

A complete change in machinery and equipment will have to be made following the bean season in order to handle the tomatoes, as new machinery must replace that used in other activities. During the first part of the season, it was said today, tomatoes will be sent to the Fullerton plant from the Pomona plant of the same company until the close of the peach season at the Pomona plant.

Last year 128,000 cases of tomatoes were turned out by the local plant, and this amount will be exceeded this year, the officials stated.

TENT PROWLER SOUGHT AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, July 20.—Further operations of the man who has entered tents in the camp grounds here at Laguna Beach and at Huntington Beach, have come to the attention of local police through the reports turned in yesterday by victims of the prowler.

Mrs. V. W. Vantrees, of Compton, is the latest victim. According to her report, she thought her daughter was playing a trick on her. Discovering her mistake, she screamed, summoning her husband and others in the camp, but the prowler made good his escape.

Chief J. A. Wynn received a communication from officials at Laguna Beach reporting similar activities in the latter city by a man said to drive a coupe.

The camp ground at Laguna Beach was visited two weeks ago at about the same time the first visit was made to the local grounds.

Huntington Beach officers recently were asked to make an investigation following the sighting of a tent and an attack on its feminine occupant. So far no clues as to the culprit have been obtained.

HARBOR MECCA FOR TWO FILM ORGANIZATIONS

NEWPORT BEACH, July 20.—Two motion picture companies arrived on location at Newport harbor yesterday with about 35 people. The Christie Comedy company, with 17 people arrived yesterday morning, and the F. B. O. with 18 people arrived last night. Two more companies are scheduled to arrive later in the week, according to C. M. Sloan of the Southern Seas club, headquarters for many of the companies while taking pictures in this section. The two companies in the week will have a total cast of about 50 people, according to Sloan.

That more movie picture companies would come and that those which do come would undoubtedly stay longer if local residents did not boost prices on them for properties to be used in the scenes, and for rooms, was Sloan's assertion.

One company scheduled to arrive some time this month may not be able to come to Newport harbor because a local resident is holding his two-mastered yacht for a big rental, Sloan declared.

The Anita Stewart company, which recently spent several weeks here, was forced out two weeks early because a local resident would not rent a piece of scenic bay front at a reasonable daily figure, Sloan asserted. Laguna Beach benefited by the change, according to Sloan, as the company moved to the latter city for the rest of the filming.

CITY PLANNING EXPERT ROTARY CLUB SPEAKER

ANAHEIM, July 20.—"City zoning has developed amazingly during the past 10 years and Los Angeles is primarily responsible for this phenomenal development," Dr. Carol Aronovici, member of the Los Angeles city planning commission, and advisor to the Anaheim planning commission, declared in a talk before the Anaheim Rotary club at its regular luncheon meeting Monday.

Dr. Aronovici's talk was in explanation of the proposed zoning ordinance which the Anaheim commission expects to have ready for presentation to the city council at an early date.

Dr. Walter L. Bingham, member of the Rotary club and president of the local planning body, was chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Dr. Aronovici placed residential zoning first on the list of city divisions. He declared that regulation of such districts encouraged the owning of homes by individuals and protected the children residing therein from dangers that might follow the establishment of industrial plants in the vicinity.

The multiple zone, covering apartment houses and flats, was placed second on the list. He cited the difference in valuation of property held for apartment houses and that two days later in the week will have a total cast of about 50 people, according to Sloan.

The Anita Stewart company, which recently spent several weeks here, was forced out two weeks early because a local resident would not rent a piece of scenic bay front at a reasonable daily figure, Sloan asserted. Laguna Beach benefited by the change, according to Sloan, as the company moved to the latter city for the rest of the filming.

Voters Fail To Approve Park Bonds

ORANGE, July 20.—Lacking 176 votes of having a two-thirds majority, the $60,000 city park bond election held in Orange yesterday failed to carry. The final count on the proposition showed a vote of 786 favoring the issue and 653 opposed.

The small number of votes cast, 1444, as against the total registration, 3407, approximately 23 per cent of the registered vote, is held by city officials as responsible for the failure of the measure.

The vote given the issue by residents of the western section of the city was greatly in favor of the bonds, as it was known that with the passage of the issue the expenditure would most likely have been spent in the western section of the city.

ALCOHOL PLANT PREPARING FOR LARGE OUTPUT

ANAHEIM, July 20.—Unloading of four huge steel retorts, each weighing 30,000 pounds, is a difficult mechanical problem now being faced by officials of the United States Industrial Alcohol company's Anaheim plant and marks another important step being taken in the $250,000 expansion program instituted by the company on its purchase of the local plant in November, last year.

The retorts now being unloaded and installed in the plant are but four of 20 such units the company plans to install during the expansion program. W. W. Haughey, western manager, declared this morning. Already $150,000 has been spent for new equipment and improvement, he stated.

Though company officials announced, at the time the Anaheim plant was purchased, that $250,000 would be spent in increasing the production of the plant from 500,000 gallons of alcohol a year to 1,000,000 gallons per year, Mr. Haughey declined to confirm that this full program is contemplated at once.

"The new machinery and equipment we are adding is expected to be all in place by October 1 and will balance the production of the plant and put our operations on a more efficient basis," he said.

Balancing the plant, Mr. Haughey explained, involves the resumption of an earlier program under which the plant's energies are concentrated in the production of alcohol. For some time previous to its acquisition by the U. S. Industrial, the plant's facilities were being turned more and more to the production of by-products with alcohol becoming itself more or less of a by-product, it is said.

The new owners are preparing to make alcohol the main product again in the present expansion program and the production of this commodity is, consequently, expected to show a tremendous increase.

Discussing the future possibilities for the Industrial's infant western plant, Mr. Haughey stated that the growth of the Anaheim enterprise would depend almost entirely upon the growth of population. In the east, he stated, especially in the vicinity of the great automobile manufacturing centers, there are many more uses for alcohol than at present exist in California. There the production of alcohol is stimulated both by industrial growth and by the growth of population.

Production of commercial fertilizer and Carbon Dioxide gas, both already an established feature of the plant's operations, is to be continued, Mr. Haughey said. Manufacture of fertilizer was adopted by the plant some time ago as a means of taking care of the objectionable waste matter which had caused some controversy.

The installation of the new equipment is being made under the supervision of R. M. Strong, Los Angeles consulting engineer.

W. W. Haughey, the company's western manager, is general superintendent of the Anaheim plant. He is assisted by H. J. Maduell and J. J. Burkhard.

LICENSE FEES FOR NEWPORT VESSELS SET

NEWPORT BEACH, July 20.—License fees to be recommended to the board of trustees at the next meeting for the live bait boats and barges using the piers as their landings have been decided upon, it was learned today.

The rates would charge according to the size of the boats. Boats of a length of 45 feet would pay $150 per year, with boats from 20 to 45 feet in length paying $100 per year and boats under 25 feet in length paying $50 per year.

The recommendations to the board will also contain a suggestion that a warfager be employed at $150 per month for one pier, and that a member of the police department be placed in charge of the other pier, both to operate as deputies of City Marshal J. A. Wynn.

A small appropriation for paint and minor improvements to the two piers is said to be included in the recommendations.

PAVING PLANS ARE APPROVED IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 20.—Plans were accepted by the city councilmen for a paving project to cover a district in the eastern part of the city, last night at the regular bi-monthly meeting. In addition to the eastern section, there was a proposition considered to pave a large district in the northwest part of the city in the West Malvern avenue district.

In addition to the two paving projects, steps were taken to consider the proposition of repaving several blocks of East Commonwealth avenue and of setting the pavement six inches below the present level in order to permit a better drainage system in that section. At the present time there is but a two-inch fall in two blocks, and with the new pavement the fall will be approximately eight inches. The cost for the repaving of the street will amount to $8000, it was said. No definite action was taken on the Commonwealth avenue proposition.

A new district will soon receive ornamental lights with the action taken last night by the councilmen. Plans were approved for the installation of ornamental lights in the Golden Hill residential district. Steel light posts, the first to be installed in the city, will be used, it was decided by the property owners in the new lighting district. Approximately 34 posts will be needed to supply the district.

A resolution was approved by the councilmen in regard to the Vancouder affair. The street will be straightened out and will be made a 40-foot street between South Nicholas avenue and South Brookhurst avenue.

More street improvement plans were approved by the councilmen when a resolution was read, declaring sewer lines, grading and oiling to be done on several streets in the west end of Fullerton.

Over 600 lots were cleared of weeds during the weed drive in Fullerton several weeks ago, according to a report which was read from the street department. A nominal fee was charged for the work, which was done by the street department in co-operation with the fire department.
